HUNTER'S VICTORY.

The Battle Near Staunton in the Valley of Virginia.

GREAT SUCCESS OF OUR FORCES.

Six Guns, Many Prisoners and Supplies Captured.

Staunton Occupied on the 6th Instant.

News From General Grant to Thursday Night.

ALL QUIET AT THAT TIME.

Dispatch Station Occupied by Our Troops.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 10.

The following brief, but highly satisfactory, dispatch, has just been received at this office, from Staunton, Va., via Harper's Ferry:

STAUNTON, Va., Monday, June 6, 1864.

We came upon the enemy yesterday, in force, fifteen miles north of this place, and after a brief but spirited fight, we whipped him most thoroughly, driving them from the field, capturing a large number of prisoners. The rebels were commanded by Gens. W. E. JONES and IMBODEN, the former of whom was killed. To-day we pursued the rebels into and through this place, where they made little resistance, although the place is quite strongly fortified, and every male person in the place was ordered out in its defence. The disposition of our forces was such, however, that they should not have held it in any case, as we were on their front, flanks and rear.

We have captured a battery of six guns, several hundred prisoners, and many hundred thousand dollars worth of stores.

We do not stop here. A still more important point is aimed at. CROOK's cavalry are with us, and doing splendidly. R. V. S.

Further Particulars.

STAUNTON, SHENANDOAH VALLEY, Monday, June 6, 1864.

Our movements here have in every way been an entire success. We have thoroughly whipped and driven back the enemy, who is rapidly retreating toward the Blue Ridge.

In our movements so far we have captured one battery of six pieces, beside other cannon of heavy calibre. Over a million dollars worth of stores fell into our hands. The amount of railroad property which we have destroyed and captured is large. We have taken a large number of prisoners. Some of them are mere boys, and one or two I saw were so young that they could hardly use a musket.

Considering the extensive character of our combinations, and the important result we have attained, our loss is not large in either killed or wounded.

CROOK's column and AVERILL's command met with decided success.

In one action which we had, the enemy attempted a trick by trying to flank our left. In the end we tricked him, as we turned his left, and thereby brought about his defeat handsomely.

THOBURN's brigade of infantry suffered the heaviest in killed and wounded.

Our forces are in hot pursuit of the enemy.

STAHL's division of cavalry, and SULLIVAN's division of infantry, were hotly engaged.

The brigades commanded by Col. MCREYNOLDS, of the First New-York Cavalry, and Col. WYNKOOP, of the Twentieth Pennsylvania, did their work.

The enemy's retreat is a complete skedaddle—a rout.

On taking Staunton we found that every man and boy had been called out for its defence.

Staunton is well fortified, but if the enemy had only remained to hold the place to the last extremity, we would have captured the whole rebel command. We got in just such positions as to secure that character of result. At one time our column was, in a great measure, in the rear of JONES and IMBODEN and the main rebel position.

The principal fight took place on the line of the North River and Middle River.

News from Gen. Grant to Thursday Night—Hunter's Victory.

[OFFICIAL.]

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, June 10—7 A. M.

Maj.-Gen. Dix:

Owing to the break in the telegraph line, no dispatches were received yesterday from the Army of the Potomac.

Dispatches have arrived this morning with dates to 9 o'clock last night. There was no firing on Wednesday except by pickets. An arrangement had been effected by which the killed and wounded were gathered in. There were no movements yesterday.

A deserter who came into our lines reports that HUNTER's victory near Staunton was much more complete than the Richmond papers reported. He says that HUNTER took twenty cannon, many prisoners, and a large quantity of stores.

The defeated force was recently a part of BRECKINRIDGE's command.

Gen. HUNTER's report has not yet been received.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

Occupation of Dispatch Station—Possession of the Railroad Bridge—Heavy Ordnance of the Rebels.

DISPATCH STATION, Va., Wednesday, June 8.

The First and Fourth Divisions of the ——th reached here this morning. It was 3 o'clock in the morning when the men began the march. When day dawned, the rebels on the south side of the Chickahominy observed the moving column and opened on it with two guns of very heavy calibre. Several men were injured while marching in the ranks.

Col. HOFFMAN's brigade of the Fourth Division immediately took possession of this side of the railroad bridge. A barricade was thrown across the railroad, about half a mile below this station.

Between us and the rebels flows the Chickahominy, a sluggish stream bounded on either side by jungles and morasses, from which is continually arising dampness and noxious vapors. At this point the stream is not more than one hundred yards in width—the bridge is three times as long.

All the track is in excellent order, though a little rusty from long disuse. It is still quite complete with the switches and side-tracks in good repair.

During the afternoon the rebels moved a heavy piece of ordnance on a truck and approached within a short distance of the bridge, whence they threw some 6-inch shells over our men, eliciting considerable criticism from those who happened to make narrow escapes.

Rifle-pits were dug, and a long line of fortifications begun. For a long time the skirmishers were friendly and conversed with each other across the river. Before dark, they were using every species of finesse to cause one another to expose their bodies for a mark.

Nothing of Interest Transpiring.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Wednesday, June 8.

Nothing of interest transpired to-day.

Along the greater part of the line the utmost quiet prevailed, until about 5 P. M., when some skirmishing took place on the left.

Capt. MCEWEN, of Gen. HANCOCK's Staff, who lost his leg by a shell on Sunday evening, is still alive, although no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

All Quiet on Thursday—The Dead Buried and Wounded Recovered—Casualties.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, NEAR COAL HARBOR, Wednesday, June 8, 1864.

There was little firing yesterday and few casualties. At one point a flag of truce was sent out, and the dead on both sides were covered with earth and the wounded were removed. All continues quiet this morning. The body of Col. MCMAHON was recovered.

From Fortress Monroe.

FORTRESS MONROE, Thursday, June 9.

We have no regular communication between this place and the White House, but the mail steamers run regularly between the latter place and Washington. Consequently, news from the Army of the Potomac by way of this point is scant.

4 P. M.—The steamer John A. Warren, Capt. CONN, has arrived from Bermuda Hundred, and reports that all was quiet with Gen. BUTLER's forces, with the exception of a little firing in the direction of Petersburgh this morning.

We have no intelligence from Gen. GRANT's army. No firing has been heard in that direction for three days.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF.

ARRIVAL OF THE GEORGE WASHINGTON.

The Mississippi Blockaded at Greenville.

THE REBELS COMMANDED BY MARMADUKE.

The steamship George Washington, Capt. E. V. GAGER, from New-Orleans, June 4, arrived at this port yesterday. We are indebted to her purser for the prompt delivery of our news packages.

THE MISSISSIPPI BLOCKADED.

From the New-Orleans Times, June 4.

By the arrival from Vicksburgh yesterday morning of the steamer Joseph Pierce, we learn that navigation on the Mississippi River has received a check. The rebels have planted batteries at Columbia, Arkansas, and Greenville, Mississippi, and three steamers, the Henry Ames, Olive Branch, and Mississippi, were lying above the former place, unwilling to run the gauntlet.

Greenville is on the east bank of the river, opposite Point Chicot. Columbia is on the west bank, about 34 miles below the mouth of the Arkansas River. At this point the Mississippi makes a very abrupt bend, and after running east about five miles, another short turn is formed, and here, on the left bank, is Greenville. The two towns are only about a mile apart. Information of the blockade was brought to Vicksburgh by the tug-boat Panthia, which arrived at that port on Tuesday. She ran the gauntlet of the batteries in the night. When she left, our gunboats were endeavoring to dislodge the rebel batteries, which were pretty well secured by a high levee, in which the rebels had made embrasures for their guns.

We have little doubt that this temporary hindrance to the navigation of the river will speedily be removed by the gunboats, or by our land forces acting in connection with them. The rebels seem unwilling for us to get news from Virginia, to which so many anxious eyes are now turned.

REBEL ACCOUNT OF THE BLOCKADE.

MOBILE, Saturday, June 4.

The operator at Jackson, on the 4th of June, reported, on the authority of a scout, that Gen. MARMADUKE is blockading the Mississippi below and above Greenville. His force is large. He destroyed three transports, securing two of their cargoes. He also crippled three gunboats and some other transports. Four transports are between his batteries, and can not go either up or down.

COMMERCIAL.

NEW-ORLEANS, Friday Evening, June 3.

COTTON—Inquiry less general to-day, the supply offering but few attractions to buyers, but still the sales comprised 350 bales. We see no reasons to change our quotations of 75c.@79c. for low ordinary; 82c.@84c. for ordinary; 86c.@87c. for good ordinary; 89c.@90c. for low middling, and 92c. for middling.

SUGAR AND MOLASSES—Not a sale worthy of note. Yesterday a small lot of fully fair to prime Sugar sold at 19c. ℔ ℔., and two lots of thin old Molasses at 85c.@90c. ℔ gallon.

FLOUR—Sales of 2,500 bbls. at $8 75@$7 25 for Superfine, and $8 25 for good Extra.

PROVISIONS—Market well stocked with all descriptions and the demand continues very limited.

FREIGHTS—The rate for steamships to New-York is 2c. ℔ ℔. for Cotton. Two barks are on the berth for Liverpool, at ¾d. for Cotton.

The gold market opened very quiet, with sales of $1,500 and $5,000 at 69½ per cent., but subsequently assumed more firmness, and later in the day $1,500 was sold at 69, holders asking 71 and upward. Nothing was reported in silver, which may be quoted at 77¼c.@69½c. for American half dollars. Mexican dollars commanded the full premium of gold.

Exchange on New-York ¼ discount to 1 per cent. premium. Sterling inactive at 209@215.

The Pirate Maffit, Again Afloat in a Blockade-Runner.

BOSTON, Friday, June 10.

The schooner Nancy Mills reports that a British steamer left St. George, Bermuda, on the night of the 4th instant, for Wilmington, N. C. She was commanded by MAFFIT, late of the Florida, and her mate was the man who shot the engineer of the Chesapeake. She had five heavy guns on freight.

FROM HAVANA.

The Arguelles Case.

HAVANA, Saturday, June 4.

Since my last nothing has transpired of interest. The English steamer from Vera Cruz, will be in to-morrow, or on Monday.

From San Domingo we get no news. Sick and wounded continue to arrive. But little fighting is reported.

The affair of ARGUELLES continues to excite an intense interest, every one is talking of it, and forming each his solution. The negroes of the expedition he captured and freed (over one thousand,) are to be turned over to ZULUETA as slaves, on the plea that the capture was illegal. Various reports are flying round that other expeditions have been successfully landed the past week, but they do not have an appearance of truth.

The Baltimore Nominations at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Friday, June 10.

The Baltimore Convention nominations were received with much enthusiasm. Salutes were fired, and ANDY JOHNSON made an eloquent patriotic speech at the St. Cloud Hotel, amid great applause.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARAGO.

Particulars of the Capture of the Water Witch.

Arrival of Deserters—General Foster's Movements.

The United States steam-transport Arago, HENRY A. GADSDEN, commanding, from Port Royal, S. C., at noon, and Charleston Bar at 7 P. M., Tuesday, June 7, consigned to Maj. STEWART VAN VLIET, Quartermaster United States Army, arrived here at noon yesterday.

The United States steamer New-Ironsides arrived at Hilton Head on the morning of the 6th.

Off Charleston Bar at 7 P. M., 7th inst., received information that the United States steamer Queen, with ordnance stores, arrived the previous evening.

After the New-Ironsides left Charleston Harbor, on the 6th ult., Sullivan's Island Battery fired two shells at the fleet of wooden vessels inside. The range was long, but did not quite reach the nearest schooner.

A blockade-runner steamer attempted to come out on the night of the 5th, was fired at and grounded on the middle ground, where she was completely knocked to pieces.

Admiral DAHLGREN arrived from Hilton Head the morning of the 7th.

The Arago brings the usual mails, and 91 first-class and 200 second-class passengers, amongst whom are Gen. GORDON and Staff.

OUR HILTON HEAD CORRESPONDENCE.

Capture of the Water Witch—Deserters—Affairs in Florida—Gen. Foster.

HILTON HEAD, S. C., Tuesday, June 7, 1864.

CAPTURE OF THE WATER WITCH BY THE REBELS.

At 3 o'clock on the morning of Friday, the 3d inst., the blockader Water Witch was captured by the rebels in Wassau Sound. The only person on board that escaped was a negro, who, at the time of attack, leaped overboard and swam to Tybee Island, thence made his way to Fort Pulaski. He states that the rebels stealthily approached the gunboat in scows, climbed up her sides without opposition, and immediately took her into possession. Not a shot was fired from either side. The whole substance of the matter is that the officers of the Water Witch were completely surprised. The affair is conceded to be one of the most disgraceful marine disasters that has ever taken place in the department. The Water Witch was built after the model of the Harriet Lane, was of about 1,200 tons burden, and carried three 100-pounder Dahlgrens and three 12-pounder howitzers. Her fate is not known, but it is believed she was run over to Nassau. On the day preceding that of her capture she had been visited by the supply ship Massachusetts, and had taken on board a large quantity of subsistence stores. By losing the Water Witch we lose one of the fleetest, and, in every respect, the most valuable vessel for blockade service we had in the squadron. It was reported yesterday, at Hilton Head, that a small boat, well manned, sent out from Fernandina for the purpose of making a search for the missing gunboat, had not been heard from, and the supposition is that the small boat with its crew has been gobbled.

I regret to write that the only events of importance I have here to chronicle as occurring in this department for some weeks past have been the loss and capture of army and navy transports and gunboats.

DESERTERS.

The number of rebel deserters coming within our lines is daily increasing. A few days ago a party of nine came over to Fort Pulaski, bringing the intelligence that a portion of JOHNSTON's army had taken refuge behind the intrenchments at Atlanta. The navy tugboat Columbine, captured by the enemy a short time since in St. John's River, had been burnt for fear of recapture by the Union gunboat Ottawa, which was lying not far distant. The deserters brought Savannah papers of June 1, which contained brief telegrams from the rebel armies in Virginia and Northern Georgia, the general tenor of which was by no means calculated to inspire the rebels with over-much confidence in the cause they espouse.

FROM FLORIDA.

The steamer Charles Houghton, from Jacksonville, reports that Gen. GORDON, a few days since, made an advance from Jacksonville to Camp Finnegan—a distance of eight miles. The object was simply to feel the enemy's position. No large body of rebels were discovered, and the troops marched back to Jacksonville.

GEN. FOSTER,

during the past week, has been on a tour of inspection to all the principal points in the department. I will not tire the reader with speculations as to the military intentions of Gen. FOSTER, but will dismiss the subject with the simple assertion, that every reasonable and practicable effort will be made to annoy and cripple the enemy.

CHANGE OF COMMANDERS.

Gen. GORDON, who has lately been in command of the Florida District, has been ordered to report to Washington. Gen. BIRNEY succeeds him in that office.

The Philadelphia Sanitary Fair.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, June 9.

The Sanitary Fair now being held here promises to be a success, far exceeding the expectations of the most sanguine of its projectors.

The admissions average twenty thousand daily.

No return of receipts has yet been made, but they are believed to be very large.

The city is thronged with people from the interior of the State, and from Delaware and New-Jersey.

The collection of paintings is universally conceded to be the finest ever displayed on this continent.

SECOND DISPATCH.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, June 10.

The Sanitary Fair has been crowded to excess all day. At the close this evening, the sword vote stood as follows: HANCOCK, 703; MEADE, 619; GRANT, 56; MCCLELLAN, 30; SHERMAN, 4; and some scattering votes. The receipts have been larger than was anticipated. Some $1,500 have been taken at one table.

THE DISASTER ON THE NORTH RIVER.

Further Particulars—Recovery of More Bodies—The Search for Others.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Friday, May 10.

Fourteen bodies of the passengers on board the ill-fated steamer Berkshire, have thus far been found.

Two of these were taken from the wreck yesterday. One of them has been recognized as the body of Mrs. NIMS, of Spencertown, Columbia County, and mother of Miss NIMS, who was also lost. The body of the unfortunate lady is much disfigured by burns.

The other body was that of a man with all his limbs burned off, and otherwise so disfigured as to be beyond all possibility of recognition.

These two bodies were secured by grappling.

There is not a vestige of the wood-work of the Berkshire above water-mark that has not been destroyed, with the exception of a portion of the starboard wheel-house. Both smoke-stacks have fallen. The walking-beam and other portions of the machinery are still standing. The after-part of the boat, from the paddles to the stern, is entirely submerged. Twenty bodies are supposed to be there. They are evidently toward the stern, where the ladies' cabin was situated. Here the fire raged fiercest, and there was less chance of escape.

Those who were nearest the bow, which heads directly toward the shore, one hundred feet from high-tide mark, nearly all escaped by jumping overboard and wading to the shore, the water not being more than five feet in depth at that point.

At the time of the disaster, those jumping from the stern got into deeper water, and many were drowned.

The work of raking and dragging for bodies is going on, and it is thought that many more will be recovered this afternoon.

Mr. RIGGS, pilot of the Berkshire, is highly spoken of for remaining at his dangerous post in the pilot-house until he had succeeded in running the boat ashore, by which brave act greater loss of life was obviated.

The bodies that may be taken from the wreck today will doubtless be disfigured beyond recognition.

It is impossible to obtain the names of the missing.

The total number of missing will reach nearly 40.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Friday, June 10.

But little more can be ascertained in reference to the Berkshire disaster.

Two bodies were found to-day—one that of Mrs. BURLEY, and the other that of a man unknown. The arm and leg of the latter are burned completely off, and the face is so disfigured that it is not known whether he was white or colored.

In addition to the names already reported, an old lady named PEARSE, and MARY PHILLIPS, the chambermaid and her daughter, are dead. These, with a little girl, whose name is unknown, make 18 lives known to be lost.

The wreck is broken in two, and the after part where most of the passengers took refuge from the fire and sank with it, is now several feet under water at low tide. Preparations are making to raise it, remove the machinery, and if possible, find the remaining bodies.

The safe has been taken out. It contained $25 or $30 and some papers, all of which are saved. It contained no list of passengers.

The men injured by the fall of the smoke-stack yesterday, are still in a dangerous condition, and their recovery is doubtful.

A Coroner's inquest will be held on Monday at Rhinebeck, when the cause and particulars of the disaster will be thoroughly investigated.

The story that 14 bodies had been found is untrue.

Additional Particulars of the Burning of the Berkshire.

The Poughkeepsie Eagle of yesterday gives the following additional particulars of the burning of the Berkshire:

THE DEAD BODIES.

The little steamer Walter B. Crane, of Rondout, having a number of steamboatmen on board, including Capt. TREMPER, of the Baldwin, and Capt. CORNELL, of the steamer Cornell, left the wreck just before noon for Rondout, having on board six bodies, which, with the one left by the Baldwin at Rhinebeck the night previous, made seven found up to that time. The following is a list:

Miss CATHARINE NIMS, Spencertown, Columbia County—drowned.

Three children belonging to Mrs. HANFORD, of Davenport, Delaware County. One of them a little girl five years of age, and a baby about seven months old were found on the beach between Kelly's dock and the wreck. The other child, a beautiful little boy about eight years old, was found at the stern of the wreck, lying in the water with his head burned slightly.

A colored man, name unknown, supposed to be one of the waiters of the Berkshire, was found on the beach about 500 feet south of Kelly's dock. He had on a life preserver, but it was adjusted on his back, which was probably the cause of his losing his life.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS.

An eyewitness describes the scene in the vicinity of the burning vessel as awful. As soon as it was ascertained that she was on fire, the pilot immediately headed her for shore, the engine at the time working at full speed, but before she struck the mud, all the wood-work was one vast sheet of flame. The scene that followed beggars description. Men frantic with fear, children crying, (and it is said that there were quite a number of little ones on board,) men shouting, the flames crackling, and the passengers jumping overboard, formed a sight terrible to behold. Furniture of every description was floating in the water, some of the pieces upholding a few of the unfortunate beings.

One little boy with his grandmother was in a state-room, and when he heard the alarm he endeavored to open the door of his room, but could not. He then managed to get out of the window and tried to save his relative, but so close were the flames that he had to jump overboard to save his own life. The lady was probably suffocated.

One of the most heartrending scenes in this terrible disaster was the case of Mrs. HANFORD. On ascertaining her danger, she seized her babe and her daughter, spoken of above, and jumped overboard, leaving her little son standing on the stern of the vessel. After she got in the water she was compelled to relinquish her hold on her little ones, and they both went down. A man with his child in his arms who was in the water close by her, seeing that the mother was in the act of sinking, seized hold of her and buoyed her up; but alas! in doing so he lost his own child.

The pilot of the Berkshire (we are sorry we could not learn his name,) receives the highest praise for his heroic endurance. With the prospect of almost certain death before him he remained at his post until nearly everything about him was consumed by fire, and the boat was brought to land. The officers of the Berkshire and her crew are said to have conducted themselves in the best possible manner.

Whether any one was to blame at the commencement of the conflagration we could not learn, nor can we, in view of the terrible result, hint at such a thing.

We learn that a Mr. FRENCH, of Saugerties, together with his two children, a boy and a girl, jumped from the promenade deck of the steamer into the river, and reached the shore in safety.

After the vessel ran on the mud, and, in consequence of no one being able to reach the engine room to stop the engine, the wheels of the burning steamer continued to revolve, thereby washing those who had jumped overboard from the stern into the river. Many persons undoubtedly lost their lives in this way.

It is supposed that there were about 120 or 140 passengers on board the boat at the time. Probably about 30 or 40 of these were lost. The vessel had on board at the time a large quantity of butter, hay, stock and country produce generally. Her original cost was about $100,000.

Mrs. HANFORD, who is at present stopping at the house of Capt. TREMPER in Rondout, yesterday proceeded to the steamer Walter B. Crane in Rondout Creek, and identified the bodies of her three children. Her feelings can better be imagined than described.

We left the wreck at 12 o'clock yesterday morning and proceeded to Rondout by railroad and ferry-boat. The excitement there was great. Returning for Poughkeepsie, we left Rondout at 3 o'clock on board the steamer Eagle, which vessel, on her way down, passed close to the wreck of the Berkshire. Persons were yet engaged in dredging for bodies, but the distance from us to them was so great that we were unable to find out whether any more had been found.

Most of the passengers on the Berkshire had retired or were about retiring for the night, when the fire broke out, consequently those that were saved were shoeless, coatless, and some of them almost entirely naked. Their wants were partially supplied by the country people in the vicinity of the disaster, and by the proprietor of the Rhinecliff House at Rhinebeck. The calamity has cast a gloom over every community hearing of it.

Early yesterday morning one of the passengers, an elderly lady, was found roaming in the woods near where the calamity happened, in a state of mind bordering on insanity.

The only possible way to get anything like a true statement of the number lost is to take the number already accounted for and subtract it from the number on board at the time of the accident, which, as is stated above, was in the neighborhood of 130. The James W. Baldwin landed about 70 at Rhinebeck, who took the cars from thence to their respective homes up the river. The pilot of the boat left Hyde Park at 10 A. M. yesterday, having two ladies in charge. It is also stated that a number walked to Staatsburgh and Hyde Park, and took conveyance from there. The loss in drowned and burned will probably reach 40. A large number of the passengers were from Catskill and vicinity, and Hudson.

THE NAVAL ACADEMY IN 1864.

Examination of Candidates for Admission—Great Increase in the Number of Midshipmen—The Future Officers of Our Navy.

Correspondence of the New-York Times:

NEWPORT, R. I., Thursday, June 9, 1864.

The annual examination of candidates for admission to the Naval Academy commenced nearly three weeks ago and has so nearly reached its close to-day that I deem it proper to forward my record of the proceedings. By to-morrow I hope to be able to complete my report containing a list of young gentlemen admitted to the Academy during one of the most interesting and exciting periods of its existence. It would be no news even to the uninitiated of your readers to tell them that the extraordinary development of our naval resources calls for, at the present time, a large increase in the number of officers. The rapidity with which we have organized and fitted out squadrons of unprecedented magnitude, has compelled us to use such materials for officering our vessels of war as the market afforded. These, as may be supposed, were not the very persons we required, and some half a dozen splendid ships have been lost on the treacherous coast, while more than one has been wrecked at sea, because of the incapacity of those having them in charge. At present the embarrassment caused by want of regular officers, necessitates a somewhat ridiculous distribution of Captains, Commanders, Lieutenants and others. For instance, a regular Commander may be commanding a sloop on a foreign station, while a volunteer officer, ranking only as an Acting-Lieutenant, must be assigned to the control of a fast steam frigate. Such matters do not harmonize very well with the feelings of gentlemen bred to respect the etiquette of rank and to obey superiors. But if the want of officers of high rank has been a source of inconvenience and trouble to the Secretary of the Navy, the lack of midshipmen has been a positive and painful annoyance. To remedy this deficiency, an impromptu rank was devised by the creation of master's mates, who have become somewhat more numerous than the vessels of the navy. They are neither officers nor sailors, yet the fact of their being employed to do midshipmen's duty, and often indeed, to do the duty of other officers of higher rank, has given them aspirations which would not be very sensibly gratified by their permanent employment in their present capacity, while the possibility of putting them in a line of promotion in the regular navy cannot be entertained without serious misgivings. Hence the pressing want of midshipmen, and hence the extraordinary interest with which the present examination has been regarded by thousands in and out the navy. The hotels are literally crowded with the friends and acquaintances of aspirants for admission, and several members of Congress are among them. A large sprinkling of the rich and fashionable citizens of New-York, Boston, and Philadelphia, who usually spend the Summer in this charming locality, is already noticeable in the streets and thoroughfares, and the influence of their presence has even thus early had its influence on the arrangement of prices in every department of business, from that of the bartender to the livery-stable keeper. If one wishes to find out how these Yankees can dispose of their money, he has only to sit on the steps of the academy for an hour on a Summer afternoon like this, and watch the cavalcade of magnificent equipages that pass to and fro.

The following officers constitute the board which met here on the 23d of May to perform the arduous task of examination: Commodore John Marston, Commodore John Rodgers, Commander of the iron-clad Dictator, and Capt. C. W. Pickering, on the part of the navy, and Hon. Henry Barnard, of Connecticut, Hon. C. D. Robinson, of Wisconsin, James A. Hamilton, Esq., of New-York, John W. Harris, Esq., of Missouri, and Hon. G. A. D. Parks, of Illinois, as civilians. It would be a work of supererogation to recapitulate every day's occurrences since the examination. Nations have been saved and destroyed without exciting such emotions as might be observed every evening, as the rejected candidates issued from the hall. Fathers and mothers receive them with heavy hearts, which seem the heavier in comparison with the joyous countenances of those more fortunate. The usual amount of execrable spelling and horrible arithmetic might be noted, several well-dressed boys persisting in spelling box b-o-c-k-s, and rendering the famous and familiar laboratory, labber-a-terry; and more than proved that a hundred and fifty dollars at simple interest would produce three thousand a year, and had the accuracy of the error proved by a pile of figures in the corner of the blackboard.

The quarters of the midshipmen were inspected as usual, the conduct of the pupils inquired into, and the condition of their health during the year seriously looked after. Then came the drills, which occupied a large portion of every day, and which were witnessed by great numbers of beautiful women, who, truth compels me to say, caused more blunders among the youthful evolutionists than ignorance and inexperience combined. A perfect exodus of those middies who have been examined, and who receive a leave of absence during the vacation, has taken place for home. In a few weeks, perhaps in less time, additional rooms in the academy will be vacated by those who spend the Summer on the sea. An officer who is at present one of our active Commodores, some 30 years ago, being without friends or money, endeavored to support a young bride on the $8 a week allowed him as a pupil of the academy. The fair one boarded at a farmer's house, and the gentleman paid $3 10 a week for her three meals and lodging, with the privilege of staying over night occasionally himself, and having an early breakfast before he set out on his long morning walk for the naval school, as he had not money to pay for even a donkey ride. I was reminded of this incident in noticing the perfectly reckless manner in which many of the young gentlemen going home on vacation handle their money. Dollars they thought no more about than if they were pennies, and if waste partizans could be used as Roman peddlers use cigar ends, quite a profitable business might be done by retailing it to more economical lovers of such luxuries.

Of course the fleet in which the middies are to make their Summer cruise deserves prominent mention. The United States steam-corvette Marblehead arrived here a few days since, to be the flagship of the cruising fleet, for this is one of the years in which steam is to be studied by the young gentlemen. The sailing vessels of the fleet have very tastefully been selected by the Secretary of the Navy from that portion of our maritime force with which our pleasantest national memories are associated. The Macedonian will be remembered as a British man-of-war; the Marion, named after the famous partizan soldier of the Revolution; while the little yacht America has done her share to sustain the credit of the country abroad. Nor will the Commander of the fleet be a man whom midshipmen may not hope to imitate with honor. MACDONALD FAIRFAX, late of the San Jacinto, has made a record on watch the Trent affair is not the brightest picture, although his conduct called forth the approbation even of those who were incensed at the conduct of his superior officers.

The initiatory cruise of the season commenced and ended a week since. The Marion was the vessel in which the young gentlemen exhibited their nautical abilities, and she was commanded by Lieut.-Commander CAMPBELL, whose skill in the art of seamanship will cause him to rank one day among our most celebrated officers. The Board of Examiners participated in the cruise, and were delighted. Sailors, officers, landsmen, boys and loafers were all assembled for the occasion.

Superintendent BLAKE should receive the thanks of the press, which are also due to his able assistant and Secretary, Mr. CHASE, for the kindness with which they treated the representative of the "Fourth Estate." P. I. R.

GEN. SHERMAN'S ARMY.

The Georgia Campaign—Bullets and Billets—The Twentieth Army Corps—The Rebels Holding on Doggedly.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

NEAR DALLAS, Ga., Sunday, May 29, 1864.

Stunned, I still live, which is something to say on a personal score. They will be accounted fortunate who pass this campaign unscathed. However, bullets have their billets and shells too, it is likely—one of the last knocked off a tree limb yesterday, [illegible] temporarily, to the field hospital. Lying quiet here, our advance from Lookout Valley, during the hot days and [illegible] of this month of May, passes [illegible] with all its memories of vigor and valor. [illegible] in the progress of the flowing tide. It has circled the ridges where it did not sweep over them, and kept the rebels busy ever seeking new [illegible], until now it is very near its flood. The Twentieth, under HOOKER, [illegible] GEARY and WILLIAMS [illegible] and you already know what work [illegible] did among the rolling rocks that [illegible] from the cliffs of Chattanooga [illegible] of the Thirty-third New-Jersey, [illegible] held the crest [illegible] and now BUTTERFIELD and WILLIAMS [illegible] helped to make up the corps' record at Resaca, where they carried the key of the enemy's position, and forced him from his chosen battle-ground. [illegible] corps will [illegible] its meed of praise [illegible] beyond the sphere of his [illegible] cannot well trace the events of a campaign [illegible] the best place to collect the materials of history.

At Cassville, on the 21st, we rested after our long [illegible] in order to commence a twenty [illegible] either to the right or left of Allatoona [illegible] through this fine country. But we did not go long unmolested, overhauling the enemy in strong force on the west banks of [illegible] A severe engagement was brought on by HOOKER's advance on the afternoon of the 25th, which lasted till nightfall. They were driven for more than a mile, and made a stand behind their log [illegible], from which they launched their avalanche of grape and canister on the columns of assault. A terrible fire of musketry withered our ranks, but the supports pressed on, and when the fight closed in the darkness, we and their outer works in our possession, which remain so. Other gains have since been made, but the enemy hold on doggedly. The losses are probably equal. Ever since we have been bushwhacking with them and expect to make an advance soon.

Looking over a battle-field on the night after the day's strife, some great commander exclaimed that nothing was more sad than a victory, except a defeat. But when we look on our thinned ranks, the tear is stopped by the thought that for every vacant place there, another has been added to the roll of honor. HAWKSTAFF.

The Railroad—Johnston Fortifying the Chattahoochee—About Atlanta.

Correspondence of the Chicago Evening Journal.

NASHVILLE, Sunday, June 5.

SHERMAN is waiting to complete the railroad from Kingston, when he will again advance. How long that will require I am unable to conjecture, but I believe not many more days—perhaps the line is already complete, and the army again moving.

JOHNSTON is understood to be fortifying on the Chattahoochee River, with a view of making a stand there. But that stream, except after a heavy rain, is both shallow and narrow, and the banks, though of considerable height, are easily scaled; and when [illegible] is reached, on either side, the country [illegible] as level as a plain. As the banks are [illegible] of uniform altitude, our artillery may be made effective in covering a crossing by the infantry; and, as a consequence, no very effective resistance can be made by JOHNSTON.

Around Atlanta there are several lines of earthworks, but the country is not well calculated for defensive purposes, and though the rebel army may fight there—may make it their "last ditch"—it will be with no hope—the act will rather be one of desperation.

[illegible] beyond Atlanta, the question naturally suggests itself whether he will follow the line of railroad leading to Augusta, or the other, leading to Macon and Savannah. My own impression [illegible] as it will be more on the direct road to LEE's army; and there can be little question of the fact, that if GRANT captures Richmond, all the forces of the Confederacy, east of the Mississippi River, will concentrate for a final stand somewhere in the cotton States—perhaps in South Carolina. Whether or not SHERMAN will follow him beyond Atlanta, I am unable even to conjecture.

Large numbers of wounded, of both armies, victims of the late battles and skirmishes, are arriving from the front. They are, if able to stand the trip, sent further North, in order that there may be as many vacant beds as possible here, in case of any great emergency.

It is stated—though I have no official assurance of the fact—that Chattanooga is soon to be made a trading-post. If such an arrangement could be effected, it would be a God-send to suffering, loyal, devoted East Tennessee.

Gen. Sherman's Movements.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune writes under date of June 4:

"JOHNSTON has been as sadly beaten, in strategy as was PEMBERTON at Vicksburgh, and he knows and feels it, and his army is chagrined beyond measure. I have conversed with prisoners captured at the battle of Resaca, who are not only conversant with the sentiments of the army at large, but with JOHNSTON and his chief Lieutenants, and they all concur in admitting that JOHNSTON has now no hope, save by long and wearisome pursuits. But this is by no means a flattering prospect. Who will tire and become demoralized first—pursuers or pursued?

LEVEL COUNTRY.

From Marietta southward, the country is level, or only gently undulating, and there is no point at which JOE JOHNSTON could hope to make a stand north of the Chattahoochee River, eight miles from Atlanta, and even there the chances for successful resistance are slight. The banks of the stream are low, and the waters shallow, and it will be far less difficult for them to flank him there than at either Dalton, Resaca, Allatoona, or Marietta, and from each of these places he has been driven in succession and in a demoralized condition.

FORTIFICATIONS AT ATLANTA.

There are some thirty strong earthworks at Atlanta, but what will they signify on a perfectly level plain against the troops who carried the heights of Mission Ridge, Lookout Mountain and Resaca? Good judges, who have been in Atlanta within a month, state that our artillery will batter down the most formidable of the fortifications around the city in a single day.

WHAT SHERMAN IS DOING.

At last accounts SHERMAN was resting at Marietta till the railroad could be built from Kingston. This will doubtless take a week or more, as the rebels destroyed the bridge over the Etowah, and tore up considerable track south of the river.

Between Dalton and Kingston they did but little damage to the road, which created some apprehensions lest he was leading SHERMAN on to defeat him in the heart of Georgia. But I confess I never indulged in these fears; I felt assured that the real secret was that JOHNSTON was compelled to retreat so hastily that he had no time to do any great damage. He had not expected a retreat from Resaca, and had made no preparations to destroy the railroad. But, knowing that he could not hold Allatoona and Marietta, he burned the bridges before him as he retired.

WHAT WILL JOHNSTON DO?

It is frequently asked, what will JOHNSTON do if he could stand against SHERMAN? I confess my inability to enlighten the public, and every one will have to do his own guessing until the mystery is cleared away by the rebel Commander himself."

Commutation for Drafted Slaves.

WAR DEPARTMENT, SOLICITOR'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20, 1864.

"Has the owner of a drafted slave in a loyal State the right to exonerate him from liability under the draft by procuring a substitute or by payment of $300?"

OPINION.

It is the right of any drafted man to furnish an acceptable substitute, or to obtain qualified exemption from service by payment of commutation. No one can lawfully prevent a drafted man from entering the military service of the United States by procuring a substitute, or by paying commutation for him, without his authority or against his consent.

If a slave be drafted who desires to serve, it is not the right of his master, by procuring a substitute or paying commutation, to withhold his slave from the service, and thereby to deprive the country of a soldier and the slave of that freedom to which he is entitled by act of Congress.

But if the drafted slave himself prefers to avoid military service, and to remain in slavery, it is [illegible] privilege to secure qualified exemption from that draft by payment of $300, or procurement of a substitute who shall be acceptable according to the regulations of this department.

WILLIAM WHITING,
Solicitor of the War Department.
Brig.-Gen. JAMES B. FRY, Provost-Marshal-Gen'l.

THE SEVENTY-NINTH REGIMENT.—The members of the Seventy-ninth Regiment (Highlanders) who [illegible] service to the Government, numbering about [illegible] of the [illegible] who came home, have recently been ordered to assemble on Hart's Island, and have been organized as the "Seventy-ninth Battalion." Under this name they have been ordered to take the field, under command of Capt. [illegible]. The name of the Seventy-ninth is thus, it is understood, to be preserved in the field. The Seventy-ninth Regiment, however, as one of our militia organizations, will soon resume its old position in the division of Gen. SANDFORD.

A FEARFUL EXPLOSION.

Particulars of the Bursting of a Locomotive Boiler near Syracuse.

The Syracuse Courier of June 9, gives the following additional particulars of the bursting of the boiler of a locomotive on the Central Railroad, four miles east of Syracuse, on June 8. It says:

"The bodies of the three men killed—Mr. GREEN, the engineer, Mr. HIGGINS, the fireman, and Mr. MASSEY, of Westmoreland, Oneida County—were taken to RYAN's undertaking rooms, and prepared for interment. An examination of the remains revealed injuries sustained as follows: GREEN's head was crushed; the left arm ground off at the wrist-joint; the right arm broken below the shoulder-joint; the left leg broken just above the ankle-joint, and the right leg broken above the knee. HIGGINS' skull was broken in at the right temple; the left leg was cut off just below the hip-joint, and the right leg was broken at the knee. MASSEY's neck was broken, and slight scratches were sustained on the nose and right hand. A Coroner's Jury—called by Justice GIBBONS, in Coroner DUDLEY's absence—was impanneled last evening, and commenced an investigation, and after organizing and viewing the bodies, the jury adjourned till this forenoon. MASSEY's body was taken home last night, by friends who came after it.

Mr. MASSEY was Supervisor of the town of Westmoreland, and freight agent of the Rome and Watertown Railroad at Rome. He was 46 years old and leaves a wife and six children.

Mr. GREEN resided at No. 107 Gifford-street, in this city. He was about 33 years old, and leaves a wife and three children.

Mr. HIGGINS was about 30 years old, unmarried, and resided at Taberg, Oneida County.

In addition to those injured, as stated in our yesterday's third edition, was Mr. WILLIAM MARR, of New-York, whose nose was broken and right leg severely injured. There were some others who sustained slight injuries, but we publish only those who required surgical attendance.

Mrs. SWAN, of this city, who sustained a severe shock of the diaphragm and bruises of the right shoulder, elbow and pelvis, is in Dr. BRADSHAW's charge. Her condition was considered critical, but she is better to-day.

Mr. MOORE, of Brantford, C. W., was more seriously injured than was at first supposed. He suffered acute pain all night. He received his injuries while attempting to save a child of Mrs. MILLER's. He is hurt in the side, extending to his kidneys, and in the left hip and knee.

Mrs. HENRY MILLER, of Somerset, Niagara County, was severely hurt in the head, and suffered general nervous prostration. One of her two children, a little girl, was slightly bruised. She is considerably better to-day.

The case of Mr. and Mrs. SANDERS, of Stittsville, Oneida County, drew forth much sympathy. They were married yesterday forenoon, and had started on their wedding tour. Both were injured—Mr. S. slightly in the groin and arm, and little finger broken, and Mrs. S. was severely hurt in the spine and right hip. She was much improved this morning.

Mrs. GIBBONS, of Verona, Oneida County, accompanied by three fatherless children, one of whom was injured slightly, sustained severe hurts on her head and body. She is at her sister's residence on Mulberry-street. She was bringing her children to the St. Vincent's Asylum of this city.

MICHAEL DWYER, of Brooklyn, sustained a dislocation of the collar bone and slight hurts in the head and side.

The steamboat express train was running at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour, the usual rate of speed, when the explosion took place. It is impossible to give anything like a correct impression of the spectacle at the scene of the explosion. A man hoeing corn in an adjacent field, states that he heard the explosion, looked up, saw the train running on and in an instant the locomotive turned up to the side of the track. The explosion took place nearly or quite one hundred and fifty feet east of where the wrecked material was piled up; the locomotive nearly divested of the upper works, the smoke-stack being carried away into a field some twenty rods distant; the tender turned across the track, lying on its side; the express car lying across both tracks, overturned, sixty feet east of the tender; the baggage car piled up against the locomotive and smoking car, the latter being broken into fragments; one passenger car overturned on the top of the embankment of eight or ten feet, two others in the ditch at the side of the track, and one other partly on the track and partly in the ditch. A large piece of the boiler was carried about eighty rods into the meadow, and the rest of it lies in a field near the railroad. The rails where the explosion occurred were blown from their places in both directions. Three telegraph poles and all the wires except one, were knocked down. The body of the engineer was found under the truck of the baggage car, and that of the fireman under the locomotive, about six feet apart.

The express messenger and baggagemen had narrow escapes. Their cars were nearly filled, and when they were overturned it is wonderful that these men were not crushed under the displaced contents. Mr. FRED. NICKERSON, the expressman, was slightly injured in the hip.

Mr. NICHOLAS GROOT was the conductor of the train, and, being in the last car, escaped unharmed. Some twenty persons were in the smoking car, one of whom was killed, four severely injured, and others slightly hurt. The other casualties were to passengers in the first passenger car.

The Coroner's jury were in session this forenoon, and after taking the testimony of a number of the persons on the train at the time of the explosion, and of experts relating to the condition of the boiler, they rendered their verdict.

The jury consisted of Messrs. H. G. Mattison, I. D. Lawson, G. H. Nobles, W. D. Clark, A. L. Smith and D. W. Hess, who rendered a verdict that JAMES GREEN, THOMAS HIGGINS and J. J. MASSEY came to their deaths from injuries received June 8, 1864, by the explosion of the boiler of the locomotive attached to the steamboat express train on the New-York Central Railroad, and that from the testimony, no blame is attached to any of the persons having the train in charge. Nothing was shown in the testimony in regard to any defect in the boiler or want of water.

The Prompt Payment of Soldiers.

NEW-YORK, Sunday, June 5, 1864.

To Gen. J. A. Dix, Bleecker-street, New-York:

DEAR SIR: It is with the most sorrowful emotions that I take the liberty of addressing to you in a public manner this painful letter. You undoubtedly feel most deeply interested in the successful prosecution of this Union war, to put down forever this wicked Southern rebellion; and so do I. You feel ready to devote your property and your life also to fight down the national treason; and so do I. And now, as a devoted friend of President LINCOLN's Administration, and also, as I claim to be, a working friend of the Government, in favor of obtaining the necessary money, the fighting materials, and, above all, the brave men to march forward to fight down this satanic treason, I write this letter in this public manner to correct, if possible, the unpardonable abuses, in the shape of gross neglect, which are constantly practiced upon our brave, deserving soldiers, and their starving families here in our midst, saying nothing about other localities in our country.

It is well known that there is a full supply of money within the control of the Secretary of the Treasury, to pay most readily all of the current cash demands upon the Government. It cannot be truthfully denied, that nearly all large contractors with the Government are most readily paid cash for their contract work, although in very many cases the contractors make out of the Government clear cash profits, amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars, every six months getting their greenbacks to divide their profits with men who, by lying and deception, have obtained important Government positions, and who profess to be Unionists—Union, is their watchword—while they curse LINCOLN and praise JEFF. DAVIS. Their union is the union of the Southern Confederacy, and not the National Union of ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

The mournful fact now exists, and has existed ever since this war commenced, of most heartless neglect on the part of Paymasters in regard to paying the monthly wages of the poor fighting soldiers. There are soldiers both in the war-fields and in the hospitals, who are most needy themselves, have their honest debts to pay, and, besides, have wives and children and helpless parents at their suffering homes, and who, perhaps, are turned out of their homes into the streets or dreary roads, without shelter or any friendly support, to beg—yes, beg—from their acquaintances a few clothes and some food, to keep them from actual starvation. I have been told of many such cases, and have heard of very many more than I can enumerate, in which these most deserving wives and helpless children, born of American parents as well as of foreign, have been forced to wend away from their homes, and have traveled hundreds of miles from their poor homes to this City, to Washington, and other central places, to find their sick and wounded husbands.

These women are daily visiting this City, to see their husbands at Hart's Island or elsewhere in the vicinity of the City, to get some money due from the Government, to keep soul and body together. These helpless persons arrive here total strangers, and wander up and down the streets to find the proper offices who can aid them pecuniarily, or give them a pass to the island. These persons are in but very few instances ever allowed to see you, Sir, personally, to tell, in your hearing, their heartrending tale of suffering. They therefore call at the next subordinate office where a pass can be obtained, and are told by the officer, in many cases, that no pass can be given them till two or three days afterward. Here comes the trial for the poor wife, how to live out the three days without a cent of money, and where to go to rest her weary, virtuous head. It is a condition which no one can appreciate who has not tried it. Hundreds crowd Bleecker-street every day, waiting their turn at the proper office for the same civility.

These women then wander about and find themselves most coldly treated, and distrusted as though they were only impostors. They find it most difficult to obtain a place to sleep; and then, when a place is found, have to sell or pledge some article of their necessary clothing to pay for lodging and board; and when they have thus suf[fered] out the three days and obtained the desired pass to the island, and have found their devoted husbands, and have embraced each other with their dearest kisses, the wife hopes for pecuniary relief; but the helpless soldier-husband says, "I am here bound up in the service; I am only a private; I dare not demand my needed pay; I have drawn nothing for three or six or twelve months' service in the war—soon as the Government pays me I will forward the money to you." The wife turns pale, and tries to smile. The husband says call on such a friend, or such an acquaintance, and on such and such relatives, near their old home, who will help you, till my money comes.

Ah! here the poor wife's heart about dies within her, as she thinks of the fact that she has already more than exhausted the charities of these very persons.

Lest you should believe this letter to be a story of fiction rather than of fact, I will state a case which now exists in this city and under my own observation. A young American woman of respectable demeanor, about 25 years of age, who calls herself Mrs. ELIZABETH DUSENBURY, the wife of EDWARD DUSENBURY, of Albany County, this State, who is in the Second New-York Artillery and sick in the hospital at Hart's Island, having had a surgical operation performed in his side on account of a serious swelling; I met this poor young woman at her boarding-house in Whitehall-street, of this City, weeping because she was about to be turned away from the house because she was unable to pay for her three weeks' board then due. She showed me several letters from Mr. DUSENBURY, dated at Hart's Island, (in Long Island Sound,) addressed to her as his dear wife, &c. She assured me that there was more than one hundred dollars due her husband from the Government, which he or she could not get. She desired a pass in the steamboat to the island. I promised to get one for her, and accordingly went up to the proper office, in Bleecker-street, and obtained with some difficulty a pass for her—as another Mrs. DUSENBURY had been there the day before, and obtained a similar favor. I also wrote a letter to Gen. JACKSON, Commandant at the Island, requesting his kind attention in her behalf, stated the suffering condition of the young woman, and expressed my hope that he would enable her to draw some money, if any was due to her husband. Mrs. DUSENBURY returned the next day to the house, and assured me that she presented my letter to the General, which he read, and most kindly waited on her to see her husband, and afterward Gen. JACKSON, upon looking over his account, stated to her that there was over two hundred dollars now due from the Government to her husband, and further stated that some money would be paid to him a week after the following Monday, which will be a week after to-morrow.

Now, I have only to say that this poor, needy woman appears to be of respectable character. I believe her story to be true, and that it does also in my belief truthfully illustrate many thousands—yes, many thousands of similar cases. You have heard, and I have heard, and all of our citizens have heard, during this war, of just such cases where the poor soldier is kept out of his needed pay for three, six and twelve months' wages, which his beloved, yet starving family would readily receive at his hands if he could get his faithfully earned money.

This woman cannot go home to Albany, as she has not a cent of money to pay her fare, saying nothing of necessary food. She has left the boarding-house in Whitehall-street, and I fear is now roaming forlorn about the streets of our cold-hearted City, no doubt vainly looking, without one cent of money, for a respectable place to rest her head this rainy Sunday night.

You know, dear General, that I am a sincere friend of our Union Government, and that I worked faithfully for the election of President LINCOLN, that I have labored to encourage enlistments for this Union war, and also to help adjust a plan of national finance by which the war has been successfully carried on. It is not in my heart to discourage enlistments into this necessary Union war. There is plenty of money in the United States Treasury to pay the soldier his wages and his bounty. And now, as a citizen of New-York, I do most emphatically demand in the name of the poor soldiers' rights, and also in behalf of mercy instead of the undeserved suffering of their wives and children, caused mainly by inefficient officials, that this gross neglect of national duty be immediately remedied by placing good, efficient business men in the places of any selfish leeches who are not properly attending to their necessary business. It is bad enough, in all conscience, for the poor Union soldier, while in the ranks, to be obliged to pay one dollar for a three-cent postage stamp, thirty cents for a single sheet of writing paper, and two, and even three dollars for a common paper of pins, and for other necessaries in proportion, (which returned soldiers have assured me they have paid while in the Potomac army.) Much more cruel it is to deprive the brave server of his country of his monthly dues.

Your obedient servant,
SAMUEL HOTALING,
No. 31 Pearl-street.

LAW REPORTS.

Collection of Costs on Contempt in Supplemental Proceedings.

COMMON PLEAS.
Before Judge Cardozo.

Lefler vs. Hull.—This was a motion to settle an order, after service on defendant of an order to show cause why he should not be punished as for contempt, in not appearing before referee, &c. On coming in of referee's report, no property being discovered, plaintiff contended that on being purged of contempt, the fees of the referee and costs of motion should be paid, and that the order should be in the alternative—on payment of costs only, defendant to be discharged—as issuing a precept to collect such fees would be useless, where no property was discovered.

Defendant's counsel urged that there was no intention to disregard any mandate of the court; that if the order was on the alternative, the effect would be to commit the defendant for an indefinite period, in case he could not pay the amount specified.

Motion granted that the defendant pay referee's fees and $10 costs of the motion, or attachment to issue.

R. D. Hatch, for motion; S. C. H. Bailey, opposed.

Wills Admitted to Probate.

SURROGATE'S COURT.
Before Surrogate Tucker.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.
Before Justice Leonard.

Charles Crary vs. Jesse Frye et al.—The execution must be limited so as to authorize a levy on the joint property only of the defendants, and the separate property of defendant Carr, who alone was served with process. The judgment must have the effect only that ensues upon the service of one only of several joint debtors.

Mary F. Trust vs. Jos. W. Trust.—Motion denied, without costs, and without prejudice to a renewal.

FRIDAY, June 10—P. M.

The market for Money continues undisturbed by the preparations for the $75,000,000 Loan of 15th inst. The Banks individually are depositing large sums with the Treasury, at 6 ⅌ cent., in anticipation of the subscriptions which they may make themselves, or checks and drafts which may be made upon them on this account. The Associated Banks met at the Clearing-house to-day and fixed $25,000,000 as the sum of Certificates of Deposit in the Treasury, at 6 ⅌ cent., which it is expedient to use in common in their daily settlements in place of or in the same way as Legal Tender Notes. An agreement to this effect will have to be signed by all the association before it can be made binding on all. The question is one of more convenience at the Clearing-house in settling the daily balances between the banks, rather than of practical moment to the money market. But a rumor this afternoon of a want of complete harmony on the subject caused a reaction in the Railway speculation, from the extreme rise of the morning, of 1@2 per cent. Early in the day there was a more decided buoyancy in the market than at any time since the subject of the new regulation was brought under discussion.

There was no material alteration in the price of Gold from the last quotation of yesterday. Gold for immediate delivery was abundant, and the speculators for the rise seemed less confident of forcing the premium over 200 per cent. than yesterday. The sales were 198¾@197¾@198¾ ⅌ cent.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made for Railway and other Stocks, as compared with Thursday afternoon, same hour. The market, though partially better than yesterday, failed at the close to recover the reaction from the best sales of this morning:

Butter continues in limited demand at 30c.@38c. for poor to prime, and 38c.@40c. for very choice State; 25c.@33c. for choice Western, ⅌ lb. Messrs. M. W. STARIN & Co., in their special report for the current week's issue of the WEEKLY TIMES, remark: "The receipts of Butter during the past week have been quite heavy, particularly of the fine grades of yellow State and Western reserve in firkins. This class of Butter has been much sought for by California shippers, and could not be moved this season without making direct purchases of the dairymen, at very high rates. Many receivers of Butter yielded to the solicitation of shippers and ordered their quotas of firkins, at current rates, the bulk of which arrived during the past week. The result is that shippers refuse to take the property unless at a loss to the receivers of some five or six dollars ⅌ package, claiming a market price, which receivers call the result of a combination. The market is, as a consequence, dull and heavy. Some sales have been made in accord with the views of shippers, but the majority of receivers refuse to yield to what is generally considered sharp practice, and out of the usual course of trade. We give a wide range in our quotations for fine Yellow firkins, but would state that for that style of goods, very little can be purchased, even at our outside quotation of 42c. The receipts of the present week, being large or small, will settle the question of market prices. Orange and Sussex pails, and also Pennsylvania and River pails are in large and increasing supply, with outside quotations at 38c. The market, however, for Pails is dull at the decline, and prices will, no doubt, go to 35c., at which the packers will freely take. The volume of trade in all classes of Butter must be small during the coming hot weather, and market prices during that period are of no material consequence, and will have very little bearing on the great trade which will open when the hot weather is passed. Prices will then be determined by circumstances not yet developed, and on which no calculation can be made at the present time. The market closes perfectly flat and inanimate." Cheese is in moderate request, at from 16c.@18c. for poor to choice ⅌ lb. The high rate of Sterling Exchange has induced some export demand, but shippers are very choice in selection of quality and order, and any dairy not fairly up to the standard is rejected. A few fancy factory dairies have brought 19c., but that price may be considered exceptional.

SUGARS—Are attracting more attention at full rates. Sales since our last, 1,250 hhds., including New-Orleans at 19½c.@20c.; Porto Rico, at 18½c.@19½c.; Cuba equal to 16½c.@19½c. ⅌ lb. Refined Sugars are inquired for at 19c.@24c. ⅌ lb.

TALLOW—Sales since our last, 245,000 lbs., at 14½c.@15c., and 37,000 lbs. Grease, at 12½c.@13½c. ⅌ lb.

TOBACCO—The desire to purchase is strong, but is only partly met, many holders having withdrawn stocks. Sales 413 hhds. Kentucky at 9½c.@23c. ⅌ lb.

TEAS—Are in more request, at buoyant prices.

WHISKY—Sales have been reported since our last of 2,100 bbls., in lots, at $1 31@$1 32 for State, and $1 32@$1 33 for Western, ⅌ gallon.

FREIGHTS—Engagements for Liverpool to-day included small lots of Flour at 1s.; 50,000 bushels Wheat at 4d.@4½d., in bulk and bags, chiefly by American vessels at the lower rate, in bulk; 10 casks Oil at 17s. 6d.; and by steamer, 2,000 boxes Cheese at 25s. For London—2,000 bbls. Flour at 1s. 9d., 300 bbls. Whale Oil at 20s.; 150 tons Oil Cake at 15s. 3d.; also, by steamer, 500 bbls. Flour at 1s. 6d., and 100 bales Hops at ½d. For Bristol—1,000 bbls. Flour on private terms. For Havre—[illegible] bbls. Whale Oil at 50 francs.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1864.
A NEW AND GREAT INVENTION IN HOOP SKIRTS.
THE DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE) STEEL SPRING.
J. I. & J. O. WEST, NO. 97 CHAMBERS-ST., NEW-YORK,
Are the owners of the patent and exclusive manufacturers of this
J. W. BRADLEY'S
PATENTED DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIRTS.
This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most elastic, flexible and durable spring ever used, enabling the wearer, in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibleness, to place and fold the skirt when in use as easily and with the same convenience as a silk or muslin dress. It entirely obviates and silences the only objections to hoop skirts, viz: the annoyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, or in any crowded place, from the difficulty of contracting them to occupying a small space. This entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the skirt the usual full and symmetrical form, and is the lightest and most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. They are the best quality in every part, and by far the lightest, most durable, comfortable and economical skirt made. Merchants will be supplied as above, and ladies in most first-class retail stores in this City and throughout the different States.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

We have a brief but gratifying dispatch concerning the victory of Gen. HUNTER over the rebels near Staunton. The enemy was severely defeated, with a heavy loss of prisoners, six guns, and a large amount of stores. The rebels appear to have made no stand at Staunton, though the place was strongly fortified, and all the male inhabitants, young and old, had been ordered out to assist in its defence. Our correspondent significantly adds that our army is about to move upon another point of importance.

The news from Gen. GRANT is up to Thursday night at 8 o'clock. There had been no fighting and no movements for two days. The killed and wounded had all been gathered in, and everything was quiet. Our forces now occupy the south bank of the Chickahominy at Dispatch Station, which is but a short distance east of the long railroad bridge over that stream. Richmond papers of the 7th seem to be very uneasy as to what Gen. GRANT proposes to do. Notwithstanding their assertions, not less than six general officers were killed and wounded, viz.: Gens. KEITT and DOLES, killed, and LANE, LAWS, BARTLE and FINNEGAN, wounded.

By the arrival of the United States steam transport Arago, we have the particulars of the capture of the United States gunboat Water Witch by the rebels, in Wassau Sound. The only person who escaped from on board was a negro, who jumped overboard, swam to Tybee Island, and made his way from thence to Fort Pulaski. The rebels are said to have stealthily approached the gunboat and captured her without opposition. The officers being taken completely by surprise. It is generally conceded to be one of the most disgraceful marine disasters we have yet experienced. After the New Ironsides left Charleston Harbor, on the 6th ultimo, two shells were fired from Sullivan's Island batteries at the wooden fleet inside, no damage was done, however. On the same night a blockade-runner steamer attempted to come out. She was fired at, grounded and completely demolished. Rebel deserters are steadily coming within our lines. Gen. BIRNEY has succeeded Gen. GORDON in command of the Florida district. Gen. GORDON has been ordered to report at Washington.

Advices received from New-Orleans to 4th inst., per steamship George Washington, state that the rebels have planted batteries at Columbia, Arkansas, and Greenville, Mississippi. Information of the blockade was brought to Vicksburgh by the tug-boat Panthia, who ran the gauntlet of the batteries at night. It is believed that the temporary hindrance to the navigation of the river will speedily be removed. The rebels are said to be very unwilling to allow us to receive news from Virginia.

A British steamer is reported to have left St. George, Bermuda, on the night of the 4th inst., for Wilmington, N. C. She was commanded by MAFFIT, formerly of the Florida. Her mate was the man who shot the engineer of the Chesapeake. She had five heavy guns.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, a joint resolution was offered to the effect that Arkansas had now in operation a State Government organized upon a true basis and Republican in form, gained by a full and untrammeled vote of the people, declaring that such laws of Congress as stated the people of Arkansas in rebellion should be declared inoperative and void, and ordering that the present organized government in Arkansas be recognized, on the condition that, except as punishment, Slavery or involuntary servitude, shall not exist in the State. A resolution was also offered for the protection of overland emigration. The bill for the settlement of California private land claims was brought up; the consideration of the bill ceased on the expiration of the morning hour. The Indian Appropriation Bill was brought up and several amendments acted upon, after which a report from the Committee of Conference on the Army Appropriation Bill was heard. The Senate adjourned, however, without taking action in the matter.

In the House of Representatives, the Missouri contested election case was brought up, and after considerable discussion, it was decided that Mr. BLAIR was not, and that Mr. SAMUEL KNOX was, entitled to a seat in the House. The contested election case from Dacotah was then taken up, and argued at length; no vote was taken, however, and the House adjourned.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Masonic Convention closed at a late hour last night. The main business transacted yesterday was the appointment of subordinate officers and committees who are to sit during recess. Five thousand dollars was appropriated toward the Masonic Hall and Asylum Fund. The session just closed has been characterized by perfect harmony, and was largely attended throughout.

The two great trots for the Fall at the Fashion Course closed on Thursday night at the Hone House, both being purses of $1,000, with an inside stake of $250 each, mile heats, 3 in 5, in harness, and the same to wagons, with the following entries: Robert Pilkingham, John Morgan, Gen. Butler, Lady Emma and Prince, the same entry in both trots.

The Richmond Examiner of Tuesday, June 7, has been received at the Navy Department. It contains some items of interest. It says: "Last night the enemy abandoned our left and part of our centre, apparently in great haste. Gen. EARLY followed them ten miles, capturing sixty prisoners, who say that GRANT has gone to the White House, because his men will not fight. The impression here is that GRANT is making his way for the James River, to cross over to the south side." A bill had passed the rebel Congress to increase the pay of non-commissioned officers and privates seven dollars per month, for one year. They have also passed a bill to exempt Quakers from fighting. Maj.-Gen. G. W. SMITH has been elected to the command of the State forces of Georgia. The Examiner, in a financial article, says: "For the first time the Confederate Treasury has no money. It is in a state of constipation. All the salaries are unpaid except Mr. MEMMINGER, the Secretary."

The splendid railroad bridge over the Wabash River at Attica, Ind., was partially destroyed by fire on Monday morning last. All the covered portion west of the draw, save one section, was burned. The burned portion, including the trestle work, was about a fourth of a mile long, and to replace it will cost from $50,000 to $80,000.

A land case has just been decided in St. Louis, by which JOHN MAGUIRE has recovered, after a quarter of a century of litigation, lands in the northern part of the city worth $500,000, together with the rents and profits which are to be assessed upon the tenants, and will be very heavy.

On Sunday night, eight substitutes for drafted men, who had been placed at the Newport Barracks, Ky., for safe keeping, drugged the guards, and after robbing the other substitutes of all the money they had, made their escape.

The Stock market was higher yesterday on the Railways early in the day, but left off dull. Governments steady. Money market easy. Gold same as on Thursday.

An active business was reported yesterday in Flour, Wheat, Cotton, Tallow and Hog products, at advanced prices. Oats were depressed and cheaper. Metals were in more demand and firmer, as were also Fruit, Hides, Leather, Petroleum, Manilla Hemp, Wool and Tobacco. The freight engagements were limited.

The Baltimore Platform and the Question of Reconstruction.

The Copperheads, who are nothing if not querulous, complain of the Union platform for not touching upon the question of reconstruction. They say that the supporters of the Administration have different opinions on this cardinal point, and that it was pusillanimously avoided in order to escape discord. They try to make it appear that the seeming unanimity of the Convention was secured only by concealment and evasion.

Now we do not grudge the Copperheads any comfort they can find in this view of the case. They need comfort badly enough, considering their broken fortunes and ruined prospects. They are quite welcome to the fact that loyal men do hold very different opinions on this question of reconstruction, and also to the fancy that the Baltimore Convention was afraid to make an attempt to settle it. It is no discredit to be afraid to do a foolish thing.

The simple truth is that the time has not yet come for a fixed conclusion upon the best mode of reconstruction. Such a decision now by the Union party would be premature, unsafe, and unwise. The prime element in the problem is as yet indeterminable—we mean the disposition of the Southern people after the overthrow of their armies. This, in the very nature of the case, cannot be known except by practical experience after that overthrow takes place. We may speculate about what it will be, ever so confidently, and yet it is nothing but speculation—the stuff that dreams are made of. Too many of the strongest anticipations of even the wisest men have been falsified, in these unprecedented times, to justify any further calculation on the unseen. It may be that when the military power of the Confederacy is broken down, its leaders deprived of the power of further mischief by capital punishment, or imprisonment, or banishment, that the Southern people will realize the utter folly of further opposition, and will cordially avail themselves of an opportunity to come back under the old Government, as free and equal fellow-citizens, prepared to perform every constitutional duty in good faith, and, turning their backs upon the past, to adapt themselves to the new order of things, like sensible practical men. We have ourselves always inclined to the opinion that this would be their disposition. We remember that, though rebellious, their character is yet essentially American; and there is no more active trait in the American character than its readiness to accept and make the best of things as they are. We cannot easily suppose that a people so preeminently practical as all Americans are, should stand out in passive resistance to an unavoidable condition. Yet it may be that the majority of Southerners, high-spirited as they certainly are, may choose to gratify their spirit rather than regard their interests, and may utterly refuse, after the war, to return to their obligations as American citizens. They may consider this an admission of past guilt and folly, and an insufferable humiliation; and thus prefer to nourish an undying hate, and to maintain an unbending contumacy.

Now, unless a Copperhead is blinder than an adder, he must see that the method of reconstruction must depend largely upon the fact whether the Southern people, after our military triumph, evince the one or the other of these dispositions. If the rebels, after they have been beaten in the field, will resume their old relations to the National Government, loyally accept its amnesties, take its prescribed oaths, and submit to its laws, the process of reconstruction will neither be difficult nor prolonged. It will, in fact, involve nothing but a reception of their elected Senators and Representatives in the National Capitol, provided these Senators and Representatives shall not be in the category of unpardoned traitors, and must take the oaths required by the laws. On the other hand, if the Southern people should show a determination not to return to their old position, still persisting in rebellion at heart, there would be no alternative but to continue to govern them with the strong arm. Loyal government in every State of the South we are bound to have; and if the Southern people do not choose to furnish it for themselves, it must be furnished for them. The National Government will abide the rule of comity and treason nowhere. It would sooner grind to powder the State establishing such a rule. All the functions of such a State would have to be kept in abeyance; a military governorship alone would control it until the time came, as it surely would come, sooner or later, either in this generation or the next, when the people, sick of their infatuation, should gladly retake their constitutional rights and obligations.

The Baltimore Convention exhibited simply the plainest common sense in letting this question of reconstruction entirely alone. Without the gift of absolute prescience, there is no such thing as wisely and safely settling this question now. The present business of the party is the maintenance of the war. First subdue the rebels. When that is done, and not before, can it be known what the Southern temper toward the Government will be, and what course of action that temper will make practicable and expedient. We must trust the President and Congress, and, if need be, the loyal States, with their Constitution-amending powers, to settle that, when the time comes, in the light of actual facts. It would be sheer folly to seek to do the thing now.

A Telegraph Round the World.

Whoever shall undertake hereafter to present a philosophic history of these times, will be compelled to linger over and to emphasize the fact, that during the bloodiest epoch in their national career, the progress of the American people in social and political enterprise outstripped that of any previous period from the founding of the Commonwealth.

True, that liberal self-appreciation with which the world credits us, enables us to take but a limited survey of the vast industrial energy which, apart from the exactions of the war, marks every step of our national growth. But see what even the most casual retrospect brings into view in the shape of political and social progress. Since the outbreak of the war we find in active operation the only effective treaty ever devised for the suppression of the Slave-trade, a national achievement which in itself puts the country practically into a new relation with the world. Since the opening of the rebellion we have completed a telegraph from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and, by bringing the Free States of the East into daily intercommunion with the Free States of the West, have strengthened beyond compute the links that before bound them socially, commercially and politically together. We have got a new and direct highway to the West by the Atlantic and Great Western Railway. We have an earnest that the Great Pacific road will now emerge from the domain of speculative enterprise to that of accomplished fact. We have made timely contributions to the suffering operatives of England and the starving poor of Ireland, and these contributions have brought returns in a stream of healthy emigration which has no parallel in modern times. We have revived the system of ocean steamship subsidies, and made provision for the introduction of a money-order system into the already vast range of the Post-office operations. We have made up the requisite supplementary subscriptions for the revival of the Atlantic Telegraph; and now the Senate Committee on Commerce and the Secretary of State invite us to take the practical lead in the stupendous enterprise of bringing the continents of Europe, Asia and America into the closest and most direct telegraphic communication by an overland route extending across three-fourths or more of the circumference of the globe.

The elaborate and carefully-prepared papers bearing on this great international project, which appeared in our yesterday's issue, have placed the public in possession of the purposes of its promoters, of the reasons which justify its commencement at the present time, and of the prospects of success which await its completion.

In the middle of April last Mr. CHANDLER, from the Senate Committee on Commerce, submitted to the Secretary of State a memorial from Mr. COLLINS, who has long familiarized himself with the subject in all its bearings, and who has already secured from the Russian Government a grant of the privilege to construct the proposed line from the mouth of the Amoor River to the Russian possessions in America, and thence (with the good will of the British Government) through British Columbia to the United States boundary line in Oregon. From this frontier line, which we already reach by telegraph, the distance to the mouth of the Amoor River, in Asiatic Russia, is computed to be, in round figures, 5,000 miles. With this break in the link made good, we should be in daily communication with Eastern and Western Europe, and with most of the civilized and many of the semi-barbarous portions of Asia.

In examining the merits of the proposed enterprise and the claims of the memorialists, Mr. SEWARD has availed himself of the information accumulated in the archives of the State Department, as to the physical difficulties which have to be overcome, the climatic hindrances, the political and financial problems which it may involve, and the commercial advantages which it offers. He deals in detail with the three great questions of its feasibility, its usefulness, and its claims to Government support. On the first two questions Mr. SEWARD presents an array of statistics, and a wealth of argument, which enable him to give an answer directly and conclusively in the affirmative. And although he deals more cautiously with the question of a public subsidy, yet, looking at the comparatively small cost of constructing this line, (estimated at $5,000,000) and looking at the assured coöperation of Russia, of Great Britain, and of private capitalists, he concludes that Mr. COLLINS' appeal for the patronage of his own Government is neither unnecessary nor unreasonable. Indeed, he says, the United States Government could not withhold its patronage "without showing a want of appreciation of the liberality and friendship which have been manifested toward the United States by Russia and Great Britain, in the proceedings they have adopted toward the same enterprise."

We assume, although it is not explained in the papers before us, that the expected subsidy would take the shape of a stipulated yearly payment from the Government, after the line should once be in working order. To this there would probably be no objection, even on the strictest economic ground, if it enters into the calculations of the Government to use the line as a medium of communication with its agents abroad. The prospect, in any case, seems favorable to the early commencement and the ultimate completion of this great enterprise.

Diplomatists and Diplomacy.

The Diplomatic Appropriation Bill, about which the House and Senate have just disagreed, but which will, no doubt, be eventually passed, creating consular clerks or pupils, to be attached to the leading Consuls' offices abroad, at salaries of $1,000 a year, introduces an innovation into our civil service, likely to prove so highly important as a precedent, that it cannot be too strongly commended to public attention. The persons who are to be appointed under it are not to be removable, except "for cause," and the cause is to be laid before Congress. This, we trust, will prove the narrow end of the wedge, and be the means of introducing a similar reform into all other branches of the Administration. We shall, under this rule, secure the services of a far better class of men than we have ever had before, because its permanency will tempt them, and an honester class, because they will not be seduced into "making hay while the sun shines," from the knowledge that they are pretty sure to be ousted at the end of four years. Moreover, it will secure us what we have never had before in our diplomacy, a class of trained public servants, familiar with the duties of their office, with its usages and proprieties, and with foreign languages and manners.

It only remains now to bring the subordinate officers of the various legations under the same system. The secretaries and attaches stand in much greater need of training than the Consuls' clerks, and the cases are very rare in which one can be found who can boast anything of the kind. As a general rule they do not speak French, the diplomatic language, at all, or only very imperfectly, and in a vast number of cases they have no acquaintance whatever with foreign society. What a serious defect this is may be imagined, when we say that by far the larger portion of the work of diplomacy in Europe is done by social intercourse. "Notes" are, after all, but the formal technical expression of views which a Minister urges with far more point and effect at a dinner table, or in an evening chat. We are here so much in the habit of transacting public business by speechmaking, that it is hard to persuade people that a fluent orator cannot carry everything before him in Paris or Vienna. But the fact is that it is only in London that any of our Ministers need to be able to put two sentences together in public. What he needs in all continental capitals, in order to accomplish the ends for which he is sent abroad and is paid is, to have good manners, to dress well, to speak French thoroughly, and to be familiar with the usages, tone of thought and way of looking at things, of the upper classes in the country to which he is accredited, and to have as large a share as possible of that kind of culture which, in social parlance, makes a man "a good talker." Of course, all these things have to rest on the same basis of more solid acquirements which he would need in order to shine in any other walk of life. But without them no man can, in the present condition of foreign society, be a really successful diplomatist. The extent to which the national character has been damaged, or the national influence impaired, by our employment of ill-trained representatives, is incalculable. Only those who have had an opportunity of hearing outside opinions about American diplomacy, frequently expressed, can have any idea of it; and it is, perhaps, to the want of keener and more graceful weapons that we owe much of that reputation for carrying our points by mere bullying, which now justly or unjustly clings to our foreign policy.

Col. McLeod Murphy.

An unfortunate error in the caption of a telegram in yesterday's issue made it appear that Col. McLEOD MURPHY had been dismissed from the army by Gen. MEADE. The text of Gen. MEADE's order showed that it was not the officer just mentioned, but Lieut.-Col. M. C. MURPHY, of the One Hundred and Seventieth New-York Volunteers, who was dishonorably dismissed from the military service, for presuming to send a flag of truce to the enemy's lines without authority. Col. McLEOD MURPHY, who is deservedly known as one of the most gallant and meritorious officers in the service, has not been in the army at all for a great length of time, but has been engaged in the naval service, and for months past has been stationed in this City, supervising naval recruiting operations at the State-street depot. The error in question arose from the approximate similarity of the two names, and we are as glad to make the correction as we are grieved that it should be required.

INSTALLATION AT BLOOMFIELD, N. J.—Rev. CHARLES E. KNOX, formerly of Utica, and more recently in temporary charge of the Presbyterian Church in Morristown, was, on Wednesday evening last, ordained and installed as Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Bloomfield. Rev. Mr. MILLARD, of Montclair, conducted the exercises, and proposed the constitutional questions to the candidate for ordination. The sermon was delivered by Rev. THOMAS S. HASTINGS, of this city. Rev. Mr. BOYD, of Orange, made the ordaining prayer. Rev. WM. E. KNOX, of Rome, gave the charge to the Pastor, and Rev. Dr. PARKER, formerly of this city, but now of Newark, that to the people. The exercises were throughout of a highly interesting character.

THE KENTUCKY RAID.

Ordnance Train Attacked—A Member of the Legislature Killed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Friday, June 10.

The ordnance train from Frankfort, yesterday, was attacked near Bagdad, by a rebel force under JENKINS.

Mr. SHANKS, a Union member of the Kentucky Legislature, was killed in the encounter.

Railroad men think that the train may have returned safely to Frankfort, as its engine was reversed immediately upon the attack, and the cars proceeded toward Frankfort.

A car of armed soldiers which proceeded up the road last night, to learn the extent of the disaster, has not returned, and we have no telegraphic communication with Frankfort since yesterday afternoon.

Later—Lexington Entered by a Part of Morgan's Band—The Rebels Whipped by Gen. Burbridge.

CINCINNATI, Friday, June 10.

Gen. BURBRIDGE, who has been following the rebels since they left Pound Gap, came up with them yesterday at Mount Sterling and whipped them handsomely.

A portion of MORGAN's command entered Lexington at 2 o'clock this morning, burned the Kentucky Central Railroad depot, robbed a number of stores, and left at 10 o'clock in the direction of Georgetown and Frankfort. BURBRIDGE followed them.

SECOND DISPATCH.

CINCINNATI, Friday, June 10.

One of MORGAN's men, captured at Maysville, reports that the force in Kentucky is immediately under the command of Gen. MORGAN, Col. ALSTON and Col. SMITH; that the total force is about 3,000, a large portion of them dismounted cavalry.

They entered the State at Pound Gap, preceded by a scouting party under EVERETT to pick up horses for their dismounted men, passed through Hazel Green, Owingsville and Flemingsburgh, and took Maysville without resistance, robbing its citizens of money and other valuables. The farms of Union men were stripped of horses, while those of rebel citizens were protected.

EVERETT left Maysville on Wednesday for Mount Sterling, at which place it is thought MORGAN's men are concentrating, with the intention of attacking Lexington.

The position of affairs in the central part of the State to-day is not known, as communications are broken with Lexington. It is thought that the intention of the rebels is to destroy all the railroads possible, and to make their exit through Central Kentucky and Middle Tennessee.

The Kentucky Central Railroad is being repaired. Trains will run to Cynthiana to-morrow.

Gen. HOBSON left Covington to-day, to open communications with Lexington.

For the original of the Cleveland Convention, see 1st Samuel, 22d chapter, 2d verse:

"And every one that was in distress, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was discontented, gathered themselves unto him; and he became a Captain over them: and there were with him about four hundred men."

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 10.

RECONSTRUCTION IN ARKANSAS.

Mr. LANE, of Kansas, (Union,) introduced a joint resolution:

Whereas, The President of the United States, by a proclamation on the 1st of January, 1863, did, among other things, proclaim and declare that the people of Arkansas are this day in rebellion against the United States; and whereas the loyal people of Arkansas have since that time, by a free and untrammeled vote, organized and have in operation a State Government upon a free basis and Republican in form; and whereas, pending the organization of said Government, the President of the United States did by proclamation of the 8th day of December, 1863, invite, among others, the people of Arkansas, to organize a legal State Government upon a free basis; and whereas the President of the United States approved said organization in the State of Arkansas, and officially recognized the same, therefore be it

Resolved, That so much of the proclamation or proclamations of the President of the United States, and so much of all laws of Congress as declare the people of the State of Arkansas in rebellion, be and is hereby declared inoperative and void; and be it further

Resolved, That the present organized government in the State of Arkansas be and it is hereby recognized, upon condition that Slavery and involuntary servitude shall never exist in said State, except as punishment for crime.

PROTECTION OF OVERLAND EMIGRATION.

Mr. WILKINSON introduced a joint resolution to amend the joint resolution for the protection of overland emigration—in effect, to change the route from Forts Abercrombie and Benton to Fort Ridgely, Montana and Idaho.

CALIFORNIA PRIVATE LAND CLAIMS.

The bill to ascertain and settle private land claims in California, as amended in the Committee on Public Lands, was taken up. It is in reference to the Miranda Grant, and is accompanied by a report which sets forth the facts in the case. The bill provides that the parties claiming under the Miranda grant, shall have a hearing in the United States District Court of California. The committee preface their report with the following: that the mischief designed to be remedied by the bill, had better be corrected by special acts rather than by a general law. An amendment is therefore reported by way of substitute for the bill to the end that justice may be done, and the nation's faith under our treaty with Mexico maintained in the only case which, in the opinion of the committee, called for the action of Congress.

Mr. CONNESS opposed the bill, saying that these claimants had already been in court and he saw no equity in their coming before Congress to ask that they shall be allowed to go into the United States courts to have a corrupt claim confirmed. He presented the resolutions of the California Legislature against the reopening of this question, which were read.

The consideration of the bill ceased on the expiration of the morning hour.

INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

On motion of Mr. FESSENDEN, of Maine, (Union,) the Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Indian Appropriation Bill, as reported with the amendments of the Finance Committee.

The bill was read at length, and the various amendments acted upon, the Senate being as in Committee of the Whole.

ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. HOWE made a report from the Committee of Conference on the Army Appropriation Bill, with a recommendation that the Senate recede from its amendments in the section equalizing the pay of United States soldiers.

Messrs. SUMNER and CONNESS approved of the Committee's report.

Without action the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 10.

BLAIR VS. KNOX.

Mr. DAWES, of Massachusetts, (Union,) called up the Missouri Contested Election case and the report in regard to it of the Committee on Elections, concluding with a resolution that Mr. BLAIR is not, but that SAMUEL KNOX is entitled to a seat as the Representative of the Sixth Congressional District of that State.

Mr. GANSON, of New-York, (Dem.,) urged a postponement of the case, as Gen. BLAIR is now in the field.

Mr. BROOMALL, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) was tired of hearing a Major-General's name called here from day to day to vote on pending questions. It should be stricken from the roll, as it was utterly impossible for a man holding a military commission to retain a seat here.

Mr. DAWES, of Massachusetts, hoped the gentleman (BROOMALL) would not hang Mr. BLAIR first and try him afterward. He (DAWES) proposed to proceed with the case. Nevertheless he desired every man to have a fair hearing.

Mr. BROWN, of Wisconsin, (Dem.,) remarked that the question involved not only the sitting member's right to a seat, but the merits of the original election. It seemed to him that the case should be postponed out of courtesy to a man actually in the field. At least he should have an opportunity to defend himself, and it was due to him that the House should fully investigate the subject.

Mr. UPSON, of Michigan, (Union,) said that the House was as fully able to determine the question now as at any other time.

The House refused to postpone the consideration of the question by a vote of 57 to 72.

Much confusion and disorder prevailed during the proceedings.

The Speaker repeatedly requested members to set a good example of order to the visitors on the floor, and he suggested that those who persisted in loud conversation had better retire to the cloak-room, so as not to disturb the legislative deliberations.

Mr. DAWES, of Massachusetts, sustained the report of the committee.

Mr. BROWN, of Wisconsin, as one of the committee, said that there was no legal testimony which justified the majority reporting in favor of Mr. KNOX.

Mr. GANSON, of New-York, (Dem.,) a member of the Committee on Elections, said that the question as to whether Mr. BLAIR is, or is not, a Major-General in the service, had nothing to do with the adjudication of this case. It was not before the committee, who were called upon to consider only whether the sitting member or the contestant received the larger number of votes.

Mr. DAWES, of Massachusetts, replied to Mr. BROWN, of Wisconsin.

The House then voted on and adopted the resolution that Mr. BLAIR is not entitled to a seat as member for the First Congressional District of Missouri.

The House next decided by a vote of seventy against fifty-two, that Mr. SAMUEL KNOX is entitled to the seat.

JAYNE VS. TODD.

Mr. DAWES, of Massachusetts, called up the contested election case from Dacotah, with the resolution declaring that WILLIAM JAYNE is not, but that J. B. S. TODD is, entitled to the seat as delegate from Dacotah.

The subject was discussed but no vote taken. Adjourned.

A Destructive Malady.—So insidious are the first approaches of Consumption that thousands remain unconscious of its presence, until it has brought them to the verge of the grave. An immediate resort to Dr. JAYNE'S Expectorant, upon the first appearance of Cough, Pain, or Soreness of the Throat or Chest, would very generally preclude a fatal result; or, in case these symptoms indicated the presence of latent consumption, would tend to subdue the violence of the disease, and thus materially assist in prolonging the life of the patient. Use the Expectorant, therefore, when you take cold, and thus prevent the necessity for its use in more dangerous complaints. All of Dr. D. JAYNE & SON'S Family Medicines are sold by HARRALS, RISLEY & TOMPKINS, No. 141 Chambers, and [illegible] Hudson-st., and by Druggists generally.

Two vols., 16mo, cloth. Price 75 cents per vol.

"There is so much refinement and unambitious grace in its composition, and it accomplishes so well the object which it makes its special aim, that it can scarcely fail to please even those readers who profess that they read no novels but really good ones."—Saturday Review (London.)

"We should not do justice to the author if we did not say that her story presents a picture of finely-varied features. * * * When we turn back to read some chapter which has especially pleased us, we find new beauties, and our first impression confirmed and enlarged."—London Review.

THE STORY OF ELIZABETH.

BY MISS ANNA THACKERAY.

The Daughter of the Novelist.

One vol. 16mo, (a new fine edition,) cloth. Price 75 cents.

"A story unique among the novels of the day; a fresh bouquet all dewed and thorned with real prickle upon the rosestalks, and great blobs of morning tears upon the leaves.... But if there are thorns there is fragrance, and promise, not to be mistaken; and so vivid a picture of a girl's heart, made by the fittest of all painters, an artist on the spot and behind the scenes, has an interest still greater than that of a story to all who may be concerned in the caprices or peculiarities of that generally interesting species of humanity."—Blackwood's Magazine.

DENISE and THE STORY OF ELIZABETH are the first and second issues of a new uniform library of the best HOME NOVELS, published in small and elegant volumes, under the title of "THE HOUSEHOLD SERIES."

PARTON'S LIFE OF FRANKLIN

Has just been given to the public, after a most able and thorough preparation, extending through several years. Few books will ever be published that will command a greater unity of interest and pleasure among genuine Americans; and many a library may be searched in vain without finding a volume of equally entertaining and truthful biography. Eminent reviewers, of various parties and creeds, have already pronounced it unsurpassed in the line of biography. From much that has been said, we append a few expressions of favor:

"Almost unexampled in attractiveness and universality of interest."—Boston Transcript, May 28.

"Valuable and attractive addition to our National Biographical Literature."—Boston Transcript, May 30.

"Will be very popular with all readers of American Biography."—Boston Journal, May 28.

"We find Mr. Parton at home here."—Boston Post, May 30.

"We read his history with more interest than romance itself."—New-York Observer, June 2.

"A splendid biography."—Round Table, June 4.

"A noble contribution to our literature."—The New Nation, June 4.

BARRETT'S AUTHENTIC LIFE OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN, WITH A HISTORY OF HIS ADMINISTRATION; Presenting a succinct, but clear and very interesting HISTORY OF THE WAR. PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S EARLY LIFE AND POLITICAL CAREER are portrayed gracefully and concisely—his more important Speeches being interwoven in chronological order. EMBELLISHED WITH AN ACCURATE PORTRAIT, ON STEEL, Elegantly Engraved by RITCHIE, from a Photograph by BRADY, taken expressly for this work. One vol. 12mo, 518 pages, cloth..........Price, $1 50.

READY IN A FEW DAYS.

The early speeches of Mr. Lincoln speak for themselves and form a very important and interesting portion of this biography, and ARE NOT GIVEN IN ANY OTHER VOLUME. The History of Mr. Lincoln's Administration has been prepared from official documents and authentic materials, and embodies an accurate and admirable outline history of the war to the opening of the present active campaign under Gen. Grant. A general view of the policy of President Lincoln is given, with his messages and proclamations complete; also, his speeches, and numerous letters and dispatches not otherwise accessible. A marked feature of interest in the work is the history of the celebrated Peninsular Campaign of Gen. McClellan. In preparing this chapter, it is evident THE AUTHOR HAS HAD ACCESS TO UNUSUAL SOURCES OF INFORMATION. The work will be found to have a permanent value as a contribution to the political history of the present eventful times, and to be a reliable book of reference for all who are interested in Political or Military affairs.

Hon. JOSEPH H. BARRETT, the author, extensively known as an able political writer, is "Commissioner of Pensions" at Washington. He closes his preface in these words: "It must suffice to say, here, that no pains have been spared—as no requisite facilities for obtaining correct data have been lacking—to make the work not only trustworthy and complete in regard to matters of salient interest, but also as acceptable as possible to all classes of loyal readers."

HISTORY OF WEST POINT, WITH THE ORIGIN AND PROGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES MILITARY ACADEMY. By Capt. EDWARD C. BOYNTON, A. M., Adjutant of the Military Academy.

One volume, octavo, 408 pages, printed on tinted paper, beautifully illustrated with maps and fine engravings, chiefly from photographs taken on the spot by the author. Bound in blue cloth. Price $6.

"Aside from its value as an historical record, the volume under notice is an entertaining guide-book to the Military Academy and its surroundings. We have full details of cadet life from the day of entrance to that of graduation, together with descriptions of the buildings, grounds, and monuments. To the multitude of those who have enjoyed at West Point the combined attractions, this book will give, in its descriptive and illustrated portion, especial pleasure."—New-York Evening Post.

"The second part of the book gives the history of the Military Academy from its foundation in 1802, a description of the academic buildings, and the appearance to-day of this always beautiful spot, with the manner of appointment of the cadets, course of study, pay, time of service, and much other information yearly becoming of greater value, for West Point has not yet reached its palmiest days.

"The book is beautifully printed on thick tinted paper, with excellent illustrations, and an abundance of these fine clear-cut maps in which your true West-Pointer so much delights."—Boston Daily Advertiser.

"We cannot close without thanking Capt. Boynton for the vast amount of information so well collated in his book, and for his clear statement of the history and condition of the Academy from the beginning to the present time."—North American Review.

COUSIN PHILLIS. A TALE. 8vo, Paper, 25 Cents.

From the New-York Evening Post, June 2.

Messrs. Harper & Brothers have added to their "Library of Select Novels," a charming little story, entitled "Cousin Phillis," which has delighted readers of the Cornhill Magazine in months past, and is ascribed in English journals and circles usually well informed, to Miss Thackeray. It is fresh and sparkling enough to be from the pen which wrote the charming "Story of Elizabeth;" and readers will only be sorry that Cousin Phillis' career—that part of it, at least, which is pictured here—is so brief.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH'S NEW BOOK.

THE BRIDAL EVE!
THE BRIDAL EVE!

BY MRS. E. D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH.

CLOTH, $1 50..........PAPER, $1 25.

"Take my title, take my wealth,
Take my rank and jewels fine.
What care I for rank or wealth,
Since thou art mine, and I am thine?
The tale was brief, but oh, the sorrow
It stabbed to that young, trustful heart!
To-day a peeress!—What, to-morrow?
Will he ever from my side depart?"

THE BRIDAL EVE.—Mrs. SOUTHWORTH, in "The Bridal Eve," has given to the novel-reading public another of her entertaining stories, and one of the most attractive books we have ever perused. Whoever reads the first page is sure to be carried on to the last. The author is remarkable for her warm and brilliant invention, her wealth of imagery, her ready flow of ideas, her pathos, and her clear insight into the motives which govern the human heart; and therein lies the charm of her pen paintings. She gives you live characters, real men and women, so tangible that one almost feels the clasp of their hand, and hears the words they speak; never reflecting, till the perusal is finished, that these persons are not real, or either much better or much worse than the people one meets in every-day life. But when the book is closed, and the reader has time to cool off the fever of his mind, he will still admire "The Bridal Eve." It is among the best of Mrs. Southworth's novels, containing deeper thought and embracing a deeper meaning than any of her preceding works, besides being in plot more ingenious and elaborate. It is a work which all may read with profit. It abounds with the most beautiful scenic descriptions; it displays an intimate acquaintance with all phases of human character; and withal, contains a moral of inestimable value. The story is absorbingly interesting, every character being well drawn, and the incidents exciting. It is a gem that will well repay a careful perusal. It must command a very large sale, as indeed do all the works of this accomplished author. It is published by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, and will be found for sale by all Booksellers everywhere.

It is for sale by all booksellers and news agents, and is published by T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS, No. 306 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia.

NOW READY.

HISTORY OF THE REBELLION: ITS AUTHORS AND CAUSES. Especially intending to show the Moral and Political Basis of the Government, with the Development and Progress of American Opinion and Legislation with regard to Human Slavery.

BY JOSHUA R. GIDDINGS.

To indicate the truth, to place historic facts before the reader in the most compact form, has been the object of the author, believing that every statesman and politician should be familiar with them, and that every citizen should have knowledge of the "causes and authors" of this bloody rebellion.

The publishers deem it just to say that, for the preparation of this work, which occupied the closing years of Mr. Giddings' life, he possessed advantages which no other statesman or writer can enjoy. For twenty-one years he mingled in the Congressional scenes which he describes. During ten of those years he stood beside the venerable John Quincy Adams, amid the most exciting incidents of our legislative history, sharing his confidence and enjoying the counsel of that eminent statesman. After his death, Mr. Giddings was for a time the sole advocate in the House of Representatives of those "self-evident truths" enunciated at the font of our national baptism, and for the support of which hundreds of thousands of freemen now rush to the battle-field. For eleven years he was styled the "Father of the House," and was the leading advocate of freedom in that body. Of all these events he gives the reader an inside view not elsewhere to be found; while his well-known integrity of character and faithfulness as a historical writer, insure a reliable and accurate history of the antecedents of this great rebellion.

DIABETES.
STONE IN THE BLADDER, CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES
AFTER URINATING.
IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS,
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL
URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful a day of the Constitution Water will relieve you like magic.

PHYSICIANS have long since given up the use of buchu, cubebs and juniper in the treatment of these diseases, and only use them for the want of a better remedy.

CONSTITUTION WATER has proved itself equal to the task that has devolved upon it.

DIURETICS irritate and weaken the kidneys, and by constant use soon lead to chronic degeneration and confirmed disease.

We present the Constitution Water to the public, with the conviction that it has no equal in relieving the class of diseases for which it has been found so eminently successful for curing; and we trust that we shall be rewarded for our efforts in placing so valuable a remedy in a form to meet the requirements of patient and physician.

IN DYSMENORRHŒA, OR PAINFUL MENSTRUATION, AND MENORRHAGIA, OR PROFUSE FLOWING,

Both diseases arising from a faulty secretion of the menstrual fluid—in one case being too little, and accompanied by severe pain, and the other a too profuse secretion, which will be speedily cured by the Constitution Water.

That disease known as FALLING OF THE WOMB, which is the result of a relaxation of the ligaments of the organ, and is known by a sense of heaviness and dragging pains in the back and sides, and at times accompanied by sharp, lancinating or shooting pains through the parts, will, in all cases, be removed by the medicine.

There is another class of symptoms arising from IRRITATION OF THE WOMB, which physicians call Nervousness, which word covers up much ignorance, and in nine cases out of ten the doctor does not really know whether the symptoms are the disease or the disease the symptoms. We can only enumerate them here. I speak more particularly of Cold Feet, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Memory, Wakefulness, Flashes of Heat, Languor, Lassitude and Dimness of Vision.

SUPPRESSED MENSTRUATION,

Which, in the unmarried female, is a constant recurring disease, and through neglect the seeds of more grave and dangerous maladies are the result; and as month after month passes without an effort being made to assist nature, the suppression becomes chronic, the patient gradually loses her appetite, the bowels are constipated, night sweats come on, and consumption finally ends her career.

CATARRH CURED.

THE CASE OF HUTCHINGS, THE "LIGHTNING CALCULATOR."

There was published in these columns a few days since the remarkable cure of Hutchings, the "Lightning Calculator," so well known to the public during the many years he exhibited his wonderful arithmetical powers at Barnum's Museum, by the celebrated Oculist and Aurist, Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Hutchings is supposed to have been at the point of death, and but for the timely interference of the Doctor, would now be moving to his grave. This is a remarkable case, and worthy of the attention of persons similarly afflicted.

We think it is but just to Doctor Von Eisenberg to call public attention to this case. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, who, like the "Lightning Calculator," if not actually praying for death, are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is within his power to make them whole or not.

DEAFNESS CURED.

From the Tribune.

EARS TO THE DEAF.

Every man, and especially every woman, believes in his or her physician. There are philosophical minds which hold to an abstract faith in Allopathy, or Homœopathy, or Hydropathy, or some other form of scientific cure; but with the world at large the belief is not in the system, but in the doctor. Especially is this true as regards aurists and oculists. The patient who has recovered his sight or his hearing is sure that the blessing could have been restored to him by no other practitioner than that particular one by whom his eyes or ears were opened. Dr. Von Eisenberg is among our best-known aurists. He has not lost as many ears as a brother practitioner has eyes, and in whose skill, therefore, we believe above all others. But we hear of him from those who esteem him not merely as a surgeon, but as a benefactor. A recent case has been related to us, for the truthfulness of which we can vouch, though we can name no names. The patient was a lady who had been deaf from infancy, as a consequence of some of the ailments to which children are liable. Latterly the disease had taken an acute form, and the patient was subject to intense suffering. The deafness was rapidly becoming complete, and the general health breaking down, under the physical exhaustion attendant upon constant pain. Ordinary remedies and ordinary advice were useless, and Dr. Von Eisenberg was called in. We must not repeat his diagnosis, for that would be only a list of hard names to the general reader. But he detected at sight the seat of disease, first in one portion of the organism, then in another, and with manipulation as skillful as his insight was accurate, he removed the causes, and she who, from infancy, had heard with difficulty, and latterly hardly at all, was restored first to perfect hearing and then to perfect health. Dr. Von Eisenberg's advertisement reminds us of this case, which we thus briefly relate, though not at his solicitation. Let him that hath not ears, hear.

From the Christian Times.

SIGHT RESTORED.

CONCERNING EYES AND OCULISTS.

Of the five senses, that which we call seeing is the most important and most valued. In proportion as this sense fails us, we are reduced to helplessness. If entirely destitute of sight, how slow would be our progress in knowledge, and how limited our sphere of action and usefulness. Endowed with it, the universe becomes a new creation, clothed with beauty and diversified by that infinite variety which never fails to attract the mind and heart.

For several months past this has been a practical subject to us. An inflamed condition of the eyelids communicating itself to the pupil, rendered the discharge of daily duties not only painful, but dangerous. Attributing it to the effect of a cold, we endured it through the Spring, with the hope that with the return of warm weather it would entirely disappear. But in this we were doomed to disappointment. Summer returned, but not our wonted sight. What might have been the result, either of further neglect or of incompetent treatment, we cannot say.

Stating our case to a friend, he assured us that a similar one in his own family had recently been treated with entire success by Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Satisfying ourselves, by more particular inquiries, that the doctor is no empiric, but a scientific oculist and aurist, we concluded to seek the benefits of his treatment, which we have now reason to acknowledge in very great. Though but a few weeks under his care, the appearance of our eyes has totally changed. The pupil is now full and clear, and the lids are entirely free from inflammation. The doctor says that the optic nerve has been weakened and the retina assumed a chronic inflammatory state, affecting more or less all the other tissues, and threatening, if neglected, to end in Amaurosis. Ophthalmitis, is the term we believe, which oculists apply to eyes affected as were ours. Having obtained the much desired relief, we take great pleasure in acknowledging our indebtedness to the talent of Dr. Von Eisenberg, and of calling to it the attention of others who may be suffering from a similar or even worse condition of their eyes. It is said that Providence provides an antidote for every bane. It is certain that the eye is, in these times, subject to severer trials than formerly. Let us be thankful, then, that as we increase the tendencies which destroy the organ of vision, the progress of science keeps pace with those tendencies. Must in advance of them.

PROPOSALS FOR LOAN.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, June 6, 1864.

To insure the greatest possible vigor in the operations of the armies now moving against the insurgents, under brave and skillful Generals, upon a vast theatre of operations, expenditures have been increased beyond receipts from revenue and ordinary subscriptions to the National Loan.

Sealed offers will therefore be received at this Department, under the act of March 3, 1863, until noon of WEDNESDAY, the 15th day of June, 1864, for bonds of the United States to the amount of seventy-five millions of dollars, bearing an annual interest of six per centum, payable semi-annually in coin on the first days of July and January each year, and redeemable after the 30th of June, 1881.

Each offer must be for fifty or one hundred dollars, or some multiple of one hundred dollars, and must state the sum, including premium, offered for each hundred dollars in bonds, or for fifty, when the offer is for no more than fifty. Two per cent. of the principal, excluding premium, of the whole amount offered must be deposited, as guarantee for payment of subscription if accepted, with the Treasurer of the United States at Washington, or with the Assistant Treasurer at New-York, Boston, Philadelphia, or St. Louis; or with the Designated Depositary at Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Louisville, Chicago, Detroit, or Buffalo; or with any National Banking Association authorized to receive deposits which may consent to transact the business without charge. Duplicate certificates of deposits will be issued to depositors by the officer or association receiving them; the originals of which must be forwarded with the offers to the department. All deposits should be made in time for advice of offers with certificates to reach Washington not later than the morning of June 15. No offer not accompanied by its proper certificate of deposit will be considered.

The Coupon and Registered Bonds issued will be of the denominations of $50, $100, $500, and $1,000. Registered Bonds of $5,000 and $10,000 will also be issued if required.

All offers received will be opened on Wednesday, the 15th of June, by the secretary or one of the assistant secretaries, and notice of acceptance or declination will be immediately given to the respective offerers; and, in case of acceptance, bonds of the descriptions and denominations preferred will be sent to the subscribers at the cost of the department, on final payment of installments. The original deposit of two per cent. will be reckoned in the last installment paid by successful offerers, and will be immediately returned to those whose offers may not be accepted.

The amount of accepted offers must be deposited with the Treasurer or other officer or association authorized to act under this notice on advice of acceptance of offer, or as follows: One-third on or before the 20th; one-third on or before the 25th; and the balance, including the premium and original two per cent. deposit, on or before the 30th of June. Interest to the 1st of July on the several deposits will be paid in coin on the 30th of June, and interest on bonds will begin July 1, 1864.

Offers under this notice should be indorsed "Offer for Loan," and addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury. The right to decline all offers not considered advantageous is reserved to the Government.

S. P. CHASE, Secretary of the Treasury.

PROPOSALS FOR $500,000 VOLUNTEER SOLDIERS' FAMILY AID FUND BONDS, NO. 2.

Sealed proposals will be received at the Comptroller's Office until Saturday, the 11th of June, 1864, at 2 o'clock P. M., when the same will be publicly opened, for the purchase of the whole or any part of the sum of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars of the "Volunteer Soldiers' Family Aid Fund Bonds, No. 2," authorized by an ordinance of the Corporation, passed May 20, 1864, and an act of the Legislature of the State of New-York, passed March 6, 1863.

The said bonds will bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first day of May and November in each year, and the principal will be redeemed November 1, 1873.

The proposals will state the amount of bonds desired, and the price per one hundred dollars thereof, and the persons whose proposals are accepted will thereupon be required to deposit with the Chamberlain of the City (at the Broadway Bank) the sums awarded to them respectively.

On presenting to the Comptroller the receipts of the Chamberlain for such deposits, the parties will be entitled to receive bonds for equal amounts of the par value thereof, bearing interest from the dates of payments.

MEDICAL.

DR. HUMPHREY'S SPECIFIC HOMEOPATHIC REMEDIES have been ten years before the public, and are used by thousands of families, and are everywhere commended for their simplicity, economy, and great curative value. A full case, with 35 large vials and book of directions is sent for $8, or sent to any address, free of charge, by express, on receipt of the price. Address Dr. F. HUMPHREYS, office and depot, No. 562 Broadway, N. Y.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 12 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 25 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

$1,000 FORFEITED AND NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. Hunter's Red Drop cures venereal diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless this remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known that scientific men, in every department of medical knowledge, begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, since 1834. Eight private rooms and a private entrance. A ten cent bill will secure the Monitor of Health by return mail.

CHICKERING & SONS,
MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.
Mr. GOTTSCHALK'S constant use of the New Scale CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

STEINWAY & SONS'
GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.
The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms, Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

PIANOS TO LET AND FOR SALE
ON INSTALMENTS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS FOR FAMILIES, CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS—Recognized by the musical profession as greatly superior to Harmoniums, Melodeons and all other small organs. (See our illustrated catalogue for explicit testimony to their superiority, from a majority of the most eminent organists in America.) Prices, $85 to $500 each.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.—The great reputation which our Cabinet Organs have obtained, and the extensive demand for them, have induced dealers to advertise, in some cases, quite different instruments as Cabinet Organs, and in others to represent to purchasers that Harmoniums and other reed organs are the same thing. This is not true. The excellences of our Cabinet Organs, which have given them their high reputation, are the result not merely of the superiority of their workmanship, but also in large measure, of essential differences in construction, which, being patented, cannot be imitated by other makers. From these arise their better quality and volume of tone and unrivaled capacity for expression. Warerooms in New-York, No. 7 Mercer-st.
MASON BROTHERS.

LATE SOUTHERN NEWS.

The Defeat of the Rebels at Staunton—Lexington, Va., Reported to be Occupied—What is Grant Doing?—Perplexity of the Rebels.

THE DEFEAT AT STAUNTON.

From the Richmond Examiner, June 7.

Gen. Jones, commanding our forces in the valley, was defeated by Hunter on Sunday, near Mount Crawford, and they retreated on Waynesboro. It adds: "Rumors were current in Richmond of disaster, including the loss of guns and trains, but the Secretary of War announced that there was no truth in them—that all the guns and trains were got off safely. Gen. Jones was killed in the action. The withdrawal of Breckinridge was a sad mistake, and the Yankees took advantage of the weakness of the force under Jones to overpower them. Rumors were also rife in Richmond that Lexington had also been taken, and the Military Institute there burned, etc. It was also reported that Grant's army was falling back to the White House."

ARRIVAL OF PRISONERS.

Fifty prisoners arrived from Lee's army on Monday. Among them are Second Lieut. C. Campbell, of the Eighth New-York, wounded; First Lieut. B. B. Lonberry(?), of the One Hundred and Eighty-third Pennsylvania, wounded; Lieut. R. Mathews, of the First Veteran Cavalry, and Capt. D. Barthe(?), of the One Hundred and Sixty-seventh New-York.

GRANT'S MOVEMENTS.

A dispatch from Lee's army, dated 6th inst., 7 P. M., says:

"Last evening the enemy abandoned our left and part of our centre in great haste. Gen. Early followed them ten miles to-day, capturing sixty prisoners, who say that Grant has gone to the White House because his men will not fight. The impression here, however, is that Grant is making for the James River, to cross to the south side."

THE WAR IN GEORGIA.

Dispatches from North Georgia, dated June 6, state that the Union army are still making toward Allatoona. Hooker's corps are fortifying the hills between Ackworth and Atlanta. Heavy rains for two days had made the roads almost impassable for artillery, and retarded their movements considerably. Some slight skirmishing occurred near Lost Mountain, on the 5th. All was quiet on the morning of the 6th.

Later accounts say that the Union army had crossed the railroad near Ackworth, and Hooker was said to be five miles east of it on the old Allatoona road. Gen. Joe Johnston's headquarters were west of Marietta, and his left wing at Lost Mountain. Hardee commanded the right, Polk the left and Hood the centre.

A BLOCKADE-RUNNER CAPTURED.

A dispatch from Mobile, dated June 6, says that the steamer Donegan was captured this morning while attempting to run the blockade. She had an assorted cargo.

WHAT WILL GRANT DO?

From the Richmond Examiner, June 7.

Grant's fortifications signified what was predicted—a retreat. He moves away from Lee's front; where is he going? If he cannot reach the city by Cold Harbor, he cannot come at all on that side. The better opinion is that he will now attempt the south side. But how is he to reach it? Grant has tried his own, tried McClellan's plan, and may now try Butler's plan, too, if he chooses, but will find it no better than the others.

MISCELLANEOUS.

It is suggested that ladies be appointed to perform the duties of clerks in the Post-offices in Richmond, the clerks all being in the field. The Post-office in Mobile is entirely served by ladies. Economy in the use of water is advised in Richmond, as the works are out of repair, and cannot be worked to their full capacity.

The Confederate State Treasury is, says the Examiner, for the first time in the history of the Government, without a dollar to pay anybody with. Much grumbling is indulged in on that subject.

Since June 1 to the evening of the 5th, 1,400 privates and forty-six officers had arrived in Richmond as prisoners from Gen. Lee.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

From the Charleston Mercury.

Beginning with the defence of Charleston (the one great success to our arms, amid the disasters which befel our cause, during the last Summer and Fall,) to our late victories in Florida, North Carolina, and Louisiana, the Giver of all victory seems to have rebuked our foes. In the Revolution of 1776, the victory of Fort Moultrie, in the Bay of Charleston, was the first signal rebound, amidst the deepest depression of our cause, which carried us on to successful independence. May we not hope that history is about to repeat itself; and that again in this glorious bay, the genius of victory lifted here, will pass on from battle-field to battle-field, until it waves over us an acknowledged power among the nations of the world! Here the grand movements for independence of Yankee domination began. Here, when this righteous cause was most depressed, rose up courage and endurance which rebuked despair, and fired anew the grand spirit of a deathless resistance to our foes. Here, even amid the ruins with which our foes have crowned our city, in silence and desolation, sits enthroned the spirit of our new-born Confederacy, suffering, but patient, calm, but defiant, grand and unconquerable. From the crumbling walls of Fort Sumter the voice of hope has gone out to the utmost limits of the Confederacy, and finds an echo in the triumphant shouts of victory which passes from State to State, as our Yankee foes go down beneath our arms. May we not humbly trust that the Omnipotent Disposer of the destinies of nations, is triumphantly carrying us through the Red Sea of blood, with which it has pleased Him to baptize our cause; and that buffeting a few more waves, the happy shores of peace and independence will be won. The blasphemous buffoon who began the war, seems fearful of the fate which awaits him. Now ordering the levy of conscripts, and then recalling the order—now forcing the negroes into the ranks, and then leaving them behind—now threatening States with a levy for troops, and then begging them to send them—he presents the spectacle of an agitated and desperate combatant in a desperate cause.

From the Richmond Examiner, June 4.

DEATH OF COL. L. M. KEITT, OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

The remains of Col. Lawrence M. Keitt, of South Carolina, who died in this city from a wound received in the battle of Wednesday, were escorted to the Danville depot yesterday afternoon, and departed en route for the State of his nativity. A portion of the Public Guard and band, with the South Carolina Congressional delegation, accompanied the remains to the depot as escort, the latter officiating as pall-bearers. Col. Keitt reached Virginia but a few days ago as the commander of the Twentieth South Carolina Regiment, one of the most complete regiments in the service, numbering over 1,200 men. Fresh from the memorable defence of Charleston, Col. Keitt was justly proud of his veteran command, and burned to lead them to glory and renown. He led them to both, but fell at the moment of victory, pierced by a hissing bullet through the lungs, dying in defence of the Capital of the Confederacy, and pouring out his blood on Virginia soil. Col. Keitt will be remembered in the old Congress of 1857-8 as the colleague of the lamented Preston Brooks. He was brave, talented and chivalrous, and a fit type and model of the Palmetto State.

Annual Communication of F. A. M.

FOURTH DAY.

The Masonic Convention concluded its labors yesterday. The main business was the installation of officers, which took place during the morning session. The Finance Committee passed several appropriations, among which was an appropriation of $3,000 from the Treasury of the Grand Lodge toward the Hall and Asylum Fund, and $3,000 to the New-York Board of Masonic Relief. A committee of twenty-five was appointed to solicit subscriptions from lodges and others, to the Hall and Asylum Fund, and to report the result of their labors at the next communication. The Grand Master made the following appointments: G. Marshal, Orrin Welch; G. Standard-bearer, E. L. Judson; G. Sword-bearer, Ed. M. Banks; G. Stewards, F. W. Herring, R. G. Cornell, Josh. H. Toone; Geo. E. Raymond, Senior Grand Deacon; Theophilus Pratt, Junior Grand Deacon. At 10½ o'clock the convention adjourned.

Return of the Garibaldi Guard.

The Garibaldi Guard, which has been in service for three years, returned yesterday. The regiment, which was originally 1,000 strong, now numbers but 252 men. To-day the Guards are to have a public reception, in which the Seventh and Twelfth Regiments will participate.

All householders, all newspapers, all people of sense and discrimination, praise Putnam's Clothes-Wringer in the highest manner. It is simple and efficient, does its work thoroughly, and without the slightest injury to the fabrics. It is an invaluable invention, saving so much labor, and performing its task so quickly and deftly that it has become as much a household necessity as anything in domestic use.—Boston Post, May 14.

SONG.

Turn not away, my love, from me,
For now I am all purity,
No fetid odors fill my mouth—
'Tis fragrant as the fragrant South,
Where flowers and spices seem to swoon
In gladness, through the golden noon!

And see the whiteness of my teeth,
The rosy, radiant gums beneath;
No ivory nor coral yet
Was ever more superbly set
By Nature, in her loveliest hour,
When reveling in perfect power.

And ask you now, my soul's own dove,
My beauteous, plighted happy love,
Whence such a wondrous change in me?
Lean close, and I will whisper thee—
'Twas from the fragrant SOZODONT, its bliss
Has made me worthy of thy kiss!

HOW TO AVOID SUN STROKE.—Be careful what you put on your head. Great, heavy, sweltering hats, that operate like a warming-pan, cause many deaths. There is a peculiar kind of Summer hat made by KNOX, No. 212 Broadway, which is as cool and comfortable in the hottest weather as the most tumultuous brain can desire. They weigh less, cost less, and last longer, beside being altogether more stylish than anything in the market.

FROM THE HOME JOURNAL, JUNE 4, 1864.

In every business or profession, indeed, in every department of science or skill, there is always some acknowledged head—some one who stands out in bold relief among his fellows, as a sort of leader. In the study and treatment of deafness and catarrh, as special diseases, Dr. E. B. LIGHTHILL, of this City, occupies just the position above described. He has devoted years of labor to this specialty, and is now reaping the reward of his industry. The editorial columns of the Tribune, of a recent date, bear witness to the doctor's success in this department of medicine. We quote the paragraph:

"CURE OF A DEAF MUTE.—Louis Loewenstein, a lad 14 years of age, born in Germany, came to this City when he was about two years old. Soon after his arrival here he was taken sick and lost his hearing. By degrees he became first deaf, and then dumb. For nearly ten years he was a mute, unable to hear the loudest voice, or to articulate a word. About one year ago he was placed by his parents in the hands of Dr. LIGHTHILL, who has so far succeeded in restoring to him his lost powers of hearing and utterance that he can converse with those who speak to him distinctly and deliberately. During the past four or five months he has been under the tuition of Mr. Bennecke, and has made considerable progress in reading and arithmetic."

Having been supplied with the lad's address, we further investigated the matter, and discovered that, previous to calling on Dr. LIGHTHILL, the youth's case was considered hopeless, and he was for two years an inmate of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum. The Rev. John Nott, D. D., Professor in Union College, Schenectady, in a published letter, tenders his gratitude to Dr. LIGHTHILL for treating successfully his case of deafness. Rev. Fred. S. Jewell, Professor of the State Normal School at Albany, also testifies to having been cured of catarrh. Dr. LIGHTHILL possesses other written testimonials and tributes to his talent from some of our wealthiest and most prominent and respected citizens, which may be seen on application. It would be difficult to speak in any but terms of praise of his treatment, in the face of these many proofs and facts testifying to his success.

CATARRH CURED.

FROM REV. FRED. S. JEWELL,

PROFESSOR OF THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, ALBANY, N. Y.

This may certify that I have been, since 1844, subject to violent periodical attacks of catarrh, marked by a highly inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the cavities of the head, producing a most distressing species of headache, for days at a time, wholly incapacitating me from business, and, during the paroxysms, confining me to the bed. In some instances the inflammation has extended to the teeth, occasioning toothache; to the throat, producing hoarseness and partial loss of voice; and twice it has so affected the left eye as to confine me for a month or more to a darkened room. These attacks have been accompanied by strong febrile symptoms, by stoppage of the head, and in the first stages by watery discharges from the nose, and subsequently becoming acrid and yellow, and, toward the close of the attack, becoming bloody and purulent. I have tried medicines of almost every kind; external applications to the head, such as camphor, ginger, hot vinegar, snuffs of some half dozen kinds, and other catarrhal preparations, together with internal remedies, such as alteratives, cathartics and emetics. These have produced no change in the occurrence or character of the disease, and, in most cases with little or no temporary relief. I had come, at length, to believe the disease to be practically beyond either cure or material alleviation.

Under these circumstances, I was led, some five months ago, to make a trial of Dr. Lighthill's treatment. His method at once approved itself to my judgment as simple, philosophical, and likely to be effective. Notwithstanding the disadvantages under which he labored in dealing with a disease of such long standing, aggravated by nervous debility and dyspepsia, and constantly induced by the accidents of my professional labor, I found the treatment reaching the disease as it had never been reached before, and producing such a modification and alleviation of its character as I had supposed impossible. I chronicle the result thus:

Although I have been situated several times so that I should formerly have believed a severe attack of my catarrh inevitable, I have escaped thus far; the symptoms of threatened attack have been very light, and have yielded to the remedies employed by Dr. Lighthill, without the need of recourse to the old hot fomentations, or emetics, and the discharges from the head have resumed the original and natural condition. That I have been able to obtain so material a relief is to me a cause of gratitude. In that alone I am repaid for whatever the treatment may have cost me.

I make this statement unsolicited, as a means of acknowledging my obligations to Dr. Lighthill's method of treating catarrh, and with a view to aid any who may have suffered from that disease in forming a just opinion of its merits, and its probable utility in their own case.

FREDERICK S. JEWELL.

Dr. ROWE refers for the cure of Catarrh:

FROM J. L. GOODELL.

No. 8 Bennett-st., Boston, May 23, 1864.

DR. ROWE—Dear Sir: Having been troubled with Catarrh for a number of years, the effects of which were the loss of smell, dizziness of the head, with a constant heaviness over the eyes, while the passage from the head to the throat was filled up by an accumulation of soft spongy substance, I placed myself under your care. Though but a little over two months since you have been treating me, quite a considerable change has taken place in my health. The dizziness in my head, together with the pressure over my eyes, has entirely gone, my sense of smell has very much improved, and I breathe quite freely through the nose. Although not entirely cured during the short time I have been under your treatment, yet I am quite confident that by following your directions the disease will very soon be effectually removed. Yours respectfully,

J. L. GOODELL.

P. S.—Any one desirous of obtaining any information regarding my case you can refer to my brother-in-law, Mr. S. Sweet, Jr., No. 20 Joralemon-st., Brooklyn.

FROM MR. CHARLES F. OXLEY.

No. 89 Tillary-st., Brooklyn, June 3, 1864.

Having suffered for many years with catarrh and sore throat, which greatly affected my breathing and affected me otherwise, I placed myself under Dr. Rowe's care. My throat now gives me no trouble. I breathe quite freely through my nose, the discharge has very much ceased, and I am rid of the other disagreeable symptoms of catarrh. Beside this, my general health is better than it has been for many years.

CHARLES F. OXLEY, No. 172 Johnson-st.

BROOKLYN, June 7, 1864.

For many years I have been affected with deafness, noises in the head, sore throat and catarrh. The catarrh produced dull, heavy pain in my head, and affected my general health, so that my friends thought it would terminate fatally with me. Having seen the beneficial results of Dr. Rowe's treatment on some of my friends, I was induced to place myself under his care. My hearing has so much improved, that I hear quite comfortably when spoken to, and is improving daily. The noise in one ear is entirely gone, and the other much less. My head is free from the disagreeable feeling. My throat is well, and I am restored to good health. To any one wishing to know more about my case, I will be most happy to give all the information by calling on me.

MRS. CATHERINE FOSTER.

From Mr. Thomas S. Day, of Brooklyn.

No. 230 Pearl-st., Brooklyn, N. Y., September 12, 1863.

For the benefit of those similarly afflicted, I make the following statement: For ten years my daughter was afflicted with catarrh, which gradually grew worse, until it had so impaired her health that we felt convinced she must die. The discharge from the head and throat was incessant, frequently accompanied by blood. After having tried every one and everything in vain, as a last resort I called on Dr. Rowe, under whose care she has been entirely cured and restored to the enjoyment of excellent health.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 23 Forsyth-st., New-York, Oct. 1, 1862.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

DEAR SIR: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most skeptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America, without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The [illegible] skill you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under a difficulty of hearing, or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls trespass on my time and patience, yet, remembering my own loss, weary affliction, causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, unrivaled reputation—that would be puerile; but as a measure of precaution, to induce all to call on you at once, without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, languor, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectorations of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 26th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,

EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

THE SECRET EXPLAINED.

"BARNUM ON MONEY-MAKING."—Many persons wonder how it is possible to conduct the American Museum successfully, at an expense of $600 per day, for a charge of only 25 cents admission.

Here is the secret:

First—There are no "dead heads;" all who attend the Museum pay their mite toward sustaining it.

Second—Barnum is there early and late, and attends to his own business personally.

Third—His motto is, "WE STRIVE TO PLEASE;" and he lives square up to it.

Fourth—Whenever a real NOVELTY can be found in any part of the world, Barnum is bound to secure it for his Museum without regard to cost. He makes the most lavish and apparently reckless outlays in order to please the public, and he knows that the public appreciates his efforts, and always responds in the same degree that his expenses are increased for their benefit. Although other managers offered MISS MAJOR PAULINE CUSHMAN one thousand dollars per week, Barnum remembered that he gave Jenny Lind six times that amount, and made money at that; he therefore bid $1,500 per week for the gallant MAJOR PAULINE, and now, every morning, afternoon and night the Museum is crowded with the elite of City and country, who are charmed to hear from her own lips the thrilling and romantic adventures of this beautiful modern Joan of Arc.

FINALLY. Barnum is popular and successful, and his Museum is patronized by everybody because he gives the public a greater amount of valuable instruction and amusement for 25 cents than can be seen elsewhere in the world for ten times that sum. "That's what's the matter."
